PROFITABLE WOMAN'S OCCUPATION

Fish Require Little Attention, Have Ready Market and Are Hardy and Long-lived

III—Raising Gold Fish
BY FRIDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12.—The center of attraction in a Philadelphia pet store a few days ago was an aquarium filled with brilliantly colored little fish, whose abnormally developed tails and fins floated and waved about them like fairy draperies. So perfect were they, and so purely decorative their beauty, that they seemed less like products of nature than of some fantastic imagination.

$150 For One Fish
Presently a man who was gazing at them with rapt attention indicated that he had chosen the one he wanted to buy. It was carefully captured and put in a little tin bucket. The onlookers then gasped with amazement as they saw the purchaser count $150 as the price of this two-ounce fish.

As a matter of fact, the price was nothing unusual. The gold fish has recently been taken up by fanciers all over the United States, and its popularity and its value are growing rapidly. There are plenty of gold fish in the country worth more than their weight in gold, and some of the prize winners in fish are valued at $500 each. The growth of the fish has been gauged from the fact that the American Federation of Gold Fish Fanciers, which was organized in 1913, now literally covers the country with its local organizations. This organization distributes literature on the care of gold fish, and otherwise does everything that it can for their improvement and propagation.

Fine Relatives of Carp
The variations of form and color that scientific breeding has produced in the gold fish are startling, and almost incredible. No other animal has ever been so swiftly and completely changed by man's control of the principles of selective reproduction. Gold fish are really of a very plebeian origin being near relations of the carp. At first they were distinguished only by their brilliant red color. Now their tails and fins have been developed to extraordinary proportions. Lace tails, fringe tails and ribbon tails are among the varieties judged separately of the shows. Their heads and bodies have been strangely distorted, the "telescope" eye which projects sometimes half an inch from the head being the most striking variety.

The Japanese deserve credit for some of the most unusual effects in gold fish. They have produced one variety whose immense tail and brilliant coloring gives him the appearance of a sort of aquatic butterfly. To the brilliant red from which the fish derives its name, the Japanese have added blue, purple, yellow, and mottled fish. The so-called "calico fish" is just now a favorite with breeders, who are constantly trying to produce new color combinations. "The Lion-head Celestial" is another creature recently added to creation. It has a fringe about its neck which gives it a fancied resemblance to a lion.

Champions Famous
The increasing popularity of fish-shows, where the pets are judged by fixed standards, like dogs and cats, and medals, ribbons and cash prizes awarded, has brought into being a class of champion fishes with considerable reputations. Thus the gold fish Prince Kusa is known to every fancier in the country. He is a Japanese.

GERMANS OPEN BIG GUNS ALONG GREEK
FRONTIER IS REPORT

ATHENS, April 12.—Greek newspapers announced today that the Germans have begun an offensive movement on the Greek frontier, capturing the Devetepe fortifications from the allies.

A violent cannonade has been resumed along the Lake Dorian-Ghevehell front, north of Salonika. The allied batteries apparently are numerically superior.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS
DEAD FROM HEART TROUBLE
HE SERVED IN MANY WARS

NEW YORK, April 12.—Richard Harding Davis, noted war correspondent and author is dead.

Davis dropped dead from heart failure while receiving a telegram over the telephone in his home at Mount Kisco last night, it was learned today.

He died at 9:30 before medical aid could be summoned. The author was about his home throughout yesterday, apparently feeling fairly well, though he had been in poor health for two weeks.

Davis was born in Philadelphia in 1864 and was 52 years old at the time of his death. Beginning as a newspaper reporter, he attracted attention by his magazine writing and some of his short stories were considered models of English literature. A number of his works have been dramatized.

At the beginning of the war, Davis went to Europe. He spent several weeks abroad writing for newspapers and magazines and only recently returned from another trip this time to the allied front in southern Serbia. Recently he contributed a number of articles to magazines on the subject of national preparedness.

Wife Stage Star
His present wife was formerly Bessie McCoy, a musical comedy star, whom he married after his first wife, the daughter of a prominent Chicago family, divorced him four years ago. Davis was educated at Lehigh and Johns Hopkins universities. During the Spanish-American war he was correspondent in Cuba for the London times and the New York Herald.

Had Trouble With Shafter
He won considerable prominence at that time through an altercation with General Shafter.

Davis also served as correspondent in the Turkish-Greek, South African and Russo-Japanese wars and was with the American troops at Vera Cruz during the American occupation of the Mexican port.

At the time of his marriage to Miss McCoy, Davis instead of the usual honeymoon provided an outing for

MACARONI PLANT IS APPROVED AS LOCAL ENTERPRISE

Board of Trade Hears Favorable Report on the Feasibility of Business Here

IN CENTER OF DURUM WHEAT BELT
Demand for Italian Tid-bit Is Greatly Increasing Says MacWillie from U. S. Figures

La Crosse may have a macaroni factory.

This was a probability today following an exhaustive and favorable report on the possibility of such an enterprise, delivered by D. W. MacWillie at a luncheon of the directors of the Board of Trade yesterday.

The Italian tid-bit is growing in popularity. Mr. MacWillie's report recited, with strings of government figures to prove it, and La Crosse is ideally situated for production of the pastry.

Durum Wheat Grown Nearby
It was pointed out that durum wheat, grown extensively in Southern Minnesota, is the grain from which macaroni flour is made. Southern Minnesota wheat is shipped to eastern macaroni factories where it commands good prices, Mr. MacWillie reported.

A plan whereby a macaroni plant could be started on small capital was outlined by Mr. MacWillie, with a prospectus of the possibilities and growth legitimately to be expected. A committee of which Mr. MacWillie is head has been studying the question since last fall.

The directors of the board adopted that portion of Mr. MacWillie's report dealing with the feasibility of his plan, and the matter will probably be laid before the board at an early meeting.

To Name Road Committee

Activity of Lansing and other down-river residents looking toward the construction of a scenic highway along the river caused the board to authorize President E. S. Hebbard to appoint a permanent committee on good roads and automobile highways. The committee is to consist of three members, and will be named shortly by Mr. Hebbard.

Efforts will be made to bring the Western Wisconsin Teachers' association annual convention here again next fall, following the directors' action yesterday. They endorsed proposals made to the directors of the teachers' association by President Hebbard. He offered the pedagogical financial aid and the co-operation of the board if they should select La Crosse.

LARRY DOYLE FOR GIANTS FIRST OVER
MILAN GETS HOMER

Giants Score Two Runs in Opening Frame, Fletcher Being Second Over the Plate

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 12.—Before a crowd of 19,000 shivering fans, Larry Doyle scored the first run in the first inning of the Giants-Phillies game here this afternoon. He crossed the plate at 3:12 p. m. The game started at 3:02.

The score was the first made in the 1916 major league baseball team.

The Giants scored twice in the first inning. Doyle scored after Benny Kauff sent a high fly to Cravath in right center. The detail of the play was:

Burns fanned. Doyle singled to center, Fletcher singled to left and took second on the throw to third, while Doyle stopped at third. Kauff sent a high fly to Cravath in right center, Doyle scoring. On a passed ball Fletcher went to third. Merkle hit to Bancroft but was safe when Bancroft's wild throw pulled Luderus off the bag, Fletcher scoring at 3:24. Merkle was caught off first by first, Alexander to Luderus.

In the last half of the first inning, Stock, playing third base for the Phillies, scored the third run of the game, the first for the champions, at 3:28. After walking Stock took second on Bancroft's out and crossed the plate when Paskert hit a liner too hot for Brainerd to handle.

Then Comes Jack Graney
CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 12.—While 16,000 fans cheered, Jack Graney crossed the plate at 3:29 for the first run in the last half of the first inning in the St. Louis-Cleveland game.

Graney worked a pass, went to second on Chapman's sacrifice and when Deal threw wild to first on Gandil's hot grounder, Graney sped home.

Flack Gets First
CINCINNATI, April 12.—More than 25,000 fans saw the Reds and Cubs "bust" open the season here today. Flack of the Cubs, scored the first run of the game at 2:42.

Milan Clouts Homer

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, April 12.—The first run scored in the New York-Washington American league game here this afternoon was on a circuit clout driven out by Milan of the Senators in the first inning. Milan was the third man to face Pitcher Caldwell and connected with the first ball pitched to him for a homer.

RENEW ATTACKS ON
DEAD MAN'S HILL
WEST OF MEUSE

Germans Use Liquid Fire in Assaults Which Paris Claims Were Repulsed

ANOTHER GREAT BLOW PREDICTED

Teutons Plan to Break Through French Second Line of Defense North of Verdun

BERLIN, April 12.—German troops have advanced at several places in the Callette wood, northeast of Verdun, the war office reported this afternoon.

West of Callette woods, three French counter attacks in the Pepper heights region broke down under German artillery fire.

On the west bank of the Meuse, French attacks northeast of Avocourt, near the village of Haucourt, were checked by the Germans.

German troops raided English positions near La Boisselle during the night, taking twenty-nine prisoners.

Attack Near Dead Man's Hill
PARIS, April 12.—Transferring their activities again to the west bank of the Meuse, the Germans early this morning attacked French positions in Caurette wood, on the northeastern approaches to Dead Man's hill.

Flaming liquids were again employed in the attack which spread from Dead Man's hill southward to Cumieres. The war office announced that the Germans were everywhere repulsed.

The Germans did not return to the attack on the east bank of the Meuse, but great artillery activity occurred between Douaumont and Vaux. Official dispatches today confirmed the reports that the Germans suffered heavily in yesterday afternoon's attacks against the French lines between Douaumont and Vaux.

Another Blow Expected
LONDON, April 12.—Presaging another hammer blow against the French line, a terrific concentrated fire was poured in all day yesterday on the northeastern ridge of Dead Man's hill where a heavy German attack Monday night gained a foothold on the slopes. Having gained this grip on the French second line of defense the crown prince began systematic artillery preparation for a renewal of the assault, creating a diversion meanwhile by attacking east of the Meuse.

Beaten Back
This blow, falling between Douaumont and Vaux, was finally beaten back. The Germans first penetrated French advanced trenches, but were driven out by counter attacks of great violence.

The grand assault begun by the Germans Saturday and continuing until early yesterday was designed to break through the French second line northwest of Verdun. Paris reported today. The crown prince smashed heavily against the French center in the fighting Sunday. During Sunday night large forces were transferred to the French right wing and at daybreak on Monday the Germans launched an attempt to roll up the French flank.

FUNSTON WORRIED
BY MOVEMENT OF
DE FACTO TROOPS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 12.—Movements of the Mexican military forces in northern Mexico and the activity of various Mexican political leaders are causing anxiety at General Funston's headquarters, it was learned on highest authority today.

Army officers and consular agents were perplexed by Carranzista troop movements across Chihuahua state in northern Mexico. These forces were reported moving from east to west.

Though details of the movements were not made public, the reports given out declared General Calles conducted a large force of Carranzistas past a point southeast of Douglas. General Gomez, according to headquarters reports, was reported moving westward with a heavy column at a point northwest to Casas Grandes.

May Move Base
In order to save nearly 100 miles in the line of communications, Funston's staff today had prepared detailed plans for moving the American terminus to a point near Ojinaga, opposite Presidio, Texas. According to the plan, the line would extend in a southwesterly direction, passing below Chihuahua City. Funston does not intend to move the line immediately, but long delays in the transmission of official reports from the advanced columns was believed to have become an actual menace to the American forces in view of other opportunities to headquarters.

BERLIN BELIEVES ASQUITH STATEMENT INDICATES HIS NATION READY TO TALK PEACE

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, April 12.—The end of the war has been brought appreciably nearer by significant developments of the last forty-eight hours.

Press reports of Premier Asquith's Monday night reply to Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's speech reached Berlin today. They created a mild sensation. Disregarding certain belligerent phrases, well-informed Germans interpreted Asquith's speech as a frank hint that the time is drawing near when England will be willing to enter peace discussions.

For the first time since the beginning of the war, the English premier, as Germans interpret his speech, modified his demand that Prussian militarism must be crushed. When he substituted for this the statement that German "military caste" must not in the future guide Germany's international policies, Germans believe that he expected a complete breakdown.

Germans assert that the so-called "military caste" was not in the diplomatic saddle before the war and that the chancellor's recent victory over the Von Tirpitz faction is evidence that the element Asquith professes to fear has not gained control of Germany's foreign policies.

These Are Peace Lines
The Hollweg and Asquith statements, together with recent information and unofficial utterances, indicate that peace prospects are taking shape along the lines indicated in the following sub-divisions:

Indemnities—Both Germany and England apparently have abandoned the idea of making the enemy pay for the war.

Belgium—The allies demand restoration and complete independence of Belgium. Germany agrees to this, provided that Belgium does not discriminate against Germany after the war.

Poland—Germany insists that conquered Polish territory shall not be returned to the czar. Russia pledges autonomy for the Poles. In the face of German claims, England and France are silent on the future of Poland.

Baltic provinces and other Russian territory held by the Austro-Germans—Germany insists that none of this territory shall be surrendered to the czar. The allies are silent on this point.

Balkans—The central empires insist that Russia shall never again dominate Balkan affairs. Bulgaria will demand Serbian Macedonia. Premier Asquith has announced that not only must Serbia be restored, but that she must receive territorial compensation for her sufferings.

Alsace-Lorraine—Germany has made no recent official statement, but important suffrage concessions have been made to the provinces. In France the clamor for the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine, apparently, has subsided.

Colonies—Germany counts as certain the restoration of her lost colonies, or an equivalent cession of colonial territory and recognition of the right of expansion in the direction of Baghdad. The allies have been silent on the subject of Germany's colonies.

Few persons in Berlin believe that the allies will enter peace discussions until they have attempted another offensive in the west. But the most recent developments support the statement made to the United Press by a high German official that the war may end by autumn and the recent declaration of the French minister of finance that the end of the war is in sight.

VIVISECTION ON HUMANS RAISES
STORM OF PROTEST

University Surgeon Extracts Part of Brain of Living Persons to Discover Cause of Paresis

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 12.—Because he bored holes into the brains of six living patients at the Pontiac State hospital with an ordinary dental drill and extracted from each hole a quantity of living brain with which he inoculated a rabbit, Dr. U. J. Wile, University of Michigan professor, today was the object of bitter attacks in circulars being distributed broadcast.

Laymen were less impressed by the statement of Dr. Wile that when the rabbit became infected, the presence of the spirochaeta pallida in the brains of lunatics had been established and the cause of paresis determined, than that vivisection had been practiced on human beings in a state hospital.

Friends and colleagues of Dr. Wile have rallied to his support. "The six patients operated on at Pontiac to prove the cause of paresis were hopelessly and helplessly insane," said Dr. E. A. Christian, head of the Pontiac hospital. "The consent of the guardians or relatives was not secured as it was not necessary."

Haiselden Upholds Wile

CHICAGO, April 12.—"Dr. Wile should be commended, not condemned."

This was the statement today of Dr. H. J. Haiselden of Baby Bollinger fame, in expressing his opinion of the action of Dr. U. J. Wile, Ann Arbor professor, who performed vivisection experiments on the brains of six patients at Pontiac State hospital.

"More work along this line should be done. There was absolutely no danger to the patient upon whom the operation was performed. There was no pain and the highest form of antisepsis were used. If these people who are criticizing Dr. Wile would confine their energy to improve the condition of the hospital for the insane and see that the attendants here are of a better class they would be doing more for humanity."

THOMPSON IS TO PRESENT PLANKS
OF WISCONSIN IDEA

La Crosse Man Will Be a Member of Platform Committee at National Convention

HE WILL FACE STEAM-ROLLER

A. T. Rogers Suggested for National Committeeman and "Mike" Olbrich to Nominate "Bob"

It will be up to James Thompson of this city to brave the steamroller in the platform committee of the national republican convention at Chicago, in support of the principles of Senator La Follette, according to the "dope" issuing from Madison today. The local attorney is slated as the Wisconsin member of the committee on resolutions. To him will be the task of presenting the "Wisconsin idea" to the platform builders, and urging floor amendments when the declaration of principles is reported out.

That a La Follette man will be chosen for the Wisconsin representative on the platform committee was a foregone conclusion, with the certainty that the senator's forces will control the delegation. Mr. Thompson is considered to be in line for the position owing to the fact that he led all the other La Follette candidates in the primary.

The progressives will also name a national committeeman from this state. There are many who believe that Alfred T. Rogers will be re-elected national committeeman from Wisconsin. He has held the position for the past eight years. As law-partner of Senator La Follette he has always been selected without opposition. There are some who believe that owing to the fact that Mr. Rogers is so busy with private affairs, some one else may be chosen to this post. Several names have been mentioned, including James A. Stone of Reedsburg; Walter L. Houser, Mondovi and Charles H. Crownhart of Madison. The fact that Mr. Crownhart has managed two of the senatorial campaigns for La Follette makes him an especially likely candidate.

The majority of the delegation also makes it sure that Senator La Follette's name will be presented to the national convention at Chicago. While no announcement has been made it is quite probable that Attorney M. B. Olbrich of Madison, one of the best known orators in the La Follette ranks, will be selected to present La Follette's name. Four years ago this honor fell to Mr. Olbrich. Olbrich is a member of the Wisconsin delegation from the Third congressional district. The nomination will probably be seconded by a member of the North Dakota delegation.

BATTLE REPORTED
NEAR PARRAL BY CREW OF TRAIN

Whether or Not Americans Were in Fight with the Villistas Is Not Known

FUNSTON REMAINS OPTIMISTIC

Officials Believe Object of Hunt Nearer at Hand Than at Any Other Time During the Chase

WASHINGTON, April 12.—A cablegram from General Obregon to the Mexican embassy today said Villa, according to his reports, had gone into the mountains wounded, with less than 150 men.

BY E. T. CONKLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

EL PASO, Texas, April 12.—A battle was reported to have been fought between Jimenez and Parral. On account of the Carranzista censorship, the forces engaged were not made known.

A Mexican Central train ran into the fight, later returning to Jimenez whence the censored reports were sent to the border. It is not known here whether American forces engaged in the fighting. Information from mining men in Parral placed an American detachment in that vicinity and Villista bands also were recently reported thereabouts. Carranza authorities in Juarez were silent regarding the battle.

However, all mining reports show Villa is with a small column of bandits last reported near Tepic, Durango.

That the main American cavalry squadrons are in southwestern Chihuahua is shown by negotiations between the quartermaster's department and El Paso dealers for large shipments of hay and oats to be shipped over the Mexican Central railroad via Chihuahua City.

This was another indication that American forces are in the neighborhood of Parral and Jimenez where a fight is reported to have occurred. Fort Bliss headquarters received an unconfirmed report that an anti-American proclamation was circulated in Chihuahua City last Friday. Presumably the Carranzista authorities suppressed it as all other reports told of co-operation from the defacto government representatives there.

Ship Provisions
About twenty-five carloads of provisions for the United States soldiers in Mexico were expected to go forward over Mexican lines today. The shipments are being handled by El Paso firms.

Headquarters Cheery

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 12.—The American expedition today is nearer the consummation of its object than at any time since the chase for Villa started. This was the belief of Major General Frederick Funston expressed today in the face of discredited rumors of Villa's death believed by army officers to have been inspired from Mexican sources, to cause withdrawal of the American progress of the expedition. American troops are south of Parral, some of them believed to be over the Durango state line, riding hard on Villa's trail. The phantom Carranzista column reported for days to be waiting south of Parral in a wide cordon ready to head off Villa and force him into a decisive battle has not yet materialized in reports to headquarters. If this Carranzista force is in the three-cornered game behind the curtain of the almost inaccessible country, Villa's force is not yet out of immediate danger, it was believed, in view of assurances from Carranzista commanders.

Both men and horses are in splendid condition, according to advices to headquarters. Funston today gave unstinted praise to Colonel Dodd, whose cavalry so far has administered one severe defeat and kept the fugitive Mexicans on the jump ever since the expedition started. Just how near to Villa's force the American cavalrymen are today was not definitely known, but it was believed Dodd is not far behind.

Arrests Not for Villa

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Arrieta brothers, Carranzista leaders at Durango City, will not join Villa's raiders, according to a dispatch received today from Carranza's foreign secretary at Queretaro, by Mexican Ambassador Arredondo.

THE WINNER

By William Winter.

When the books were opened in the various bars and cigar stands, the gamblers had taken notice of Rumor. The foreign entries, the DeChaud and Bouchier, were favorites in the betting at odds of six to one, while prominent American entries ranked just behind them. Among these was the Crescent, said to be of a new and powerful design, which was quoted at ten to one. Just ahead of it ranked the Parker Special at eight to one to win, four to place and two to show. There was a rush to get money down at these odds. In the Morning Light saloon a book was being run by Jack McDuffy, a famous bookmaker and plunger. It was here that Parker appeared and laid a bet, investing five hundred dollars on his car to win.

"It's a darned shame that business is so bad this year," he said apologetically. "I've spent so much on that boat that it's going to strain me to lay a little bet on it. But I've got to get some of it back and this is like finding money."

Billie Worm was standing near and had resented the cold stare with which Parker passed him by. He was somewhat the worse for liquor and inclined to be quarrelsome.

"Stucky for you, ol' man," he said. "That tin trap couldn't run a hundred miles if it had a mule to pull it. I'll take all the money you want to lay on that buss."

The intoxicated gentleman assured Parker that he was a sport and that he had money to back him in the assertion. To prove it he waved a bundle of bills that was awe-inspiring and invited every one in sight to have a drink.

"Bet you anything you want," he shouted. "Bet you the ol' Tinner's Dream don't finish the race. Bet you it don't finish hundred'n fifty laps! Bet you I can lick you!"

Parker, whose anger seemed to be mounting, was about to accept this wager and started to take off his ministerial coat, but the bartender put a stop to the imminent hostilities through not to the recriminations, which grew more and more heated. Constantly the drunken Mr. Worm challenged Parker to put up or shut up and Parker bemoaned his poverty. Finally, goaded to desperation, he jerked another roll of five hundred dollars from his pocket and confronted the shouting challenger.

"Put up or shut up!" chanted his tormentor. "Ol' boat can't run hundred an' fifty miles! Bet you five hundred even she don't finish hundred and fifty miles!"

"Done!" cried Parker and slapped his money down while the imbecile Billie promptly covered it, calling loud attention to the kind of sport he was. He taunted Parker to bet more, but that gentleman admitted with a groan that he could not raise a further sum. Manners, of the Planet, happening to be at hand, was appointed stakeholder and pocketed the thousand dollars.

The drunken man seemed to have got his mind set on belittling the new car. He challenged the bookmaker to duplicate Parker's bet and was promptly accommodated to the tune of another thousand dollars. Every one thought that the man was crazy and his subsequent conduct confirmed the impression. He sallied from the Morning Light to other haunts of vice and everywhere he challenged all and sundry to bet "their heads off" against the proposition that the Parker Special would not run a hundred and fifty miles. It was too good an opportunity to be lost and numerous bookmakers and ordinary bettors seized it. After an hour of free libations and busy wagering, Billy Worm had exhausted his resources and had bet something like fourteen thousand dollars. At this stage he disappeared for some time, and none knew that he had met Manners and Parker in a back room of the Planet office, where he rendered a report as to his operations.

"Can you get down another thousand, Bill?" asked Parker, whose recent enemy toward this person had unaccountably given way to friendly intimacy.

"I could pretty near get down a million," said the betting man, who now seemed almost sober.

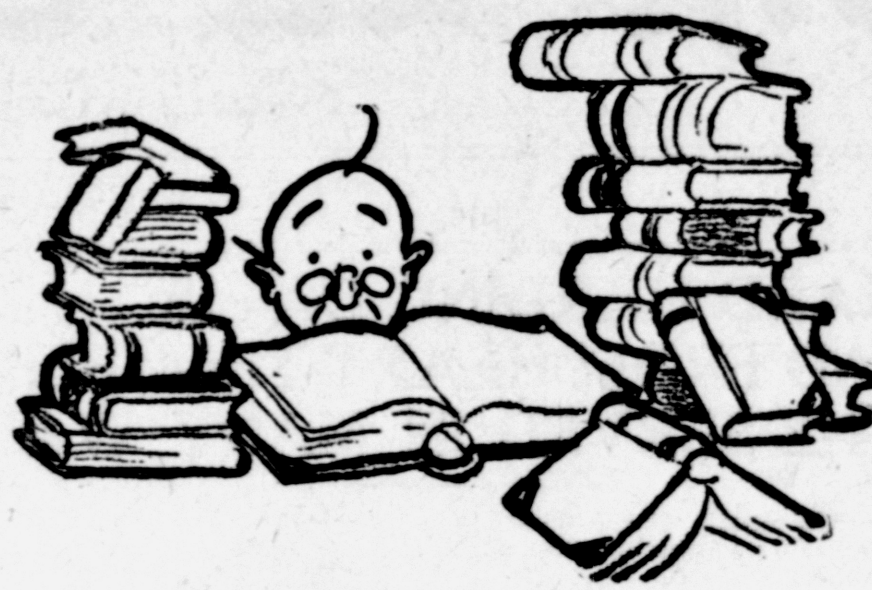

"Are you dead sure it's all right?" asked Manners, who was a little startled by the magnitude of the operation.

"Of course I'm sure," sneered Parker. "That fool has built the boat out of all the junk I had in the shop and I haven't given him enough real money to make a pushmobile out of it. The engine is a five-year-old Grafton-Brown that's nearly wore out and the frame came off a Speed King that weighed a million pounds without the engine and body. The transmission we got from a Sunlight roadster of the vintage of 1492 or thereabouts and the wiring was done with scraps. That pile of junk will be lucky as sn to hold together for ten times round the track. But it looks good."

The two men grinned in response to this and Manners wasted no further words. He pulled from his pocket the roll that these two friends had so recently bet and, adding to it a further sum, handed it to the erstwhile drunk.

"Bill," he said, "take this and go out and get it down. There's the thousand that you and Parker bet and there's five hundred more of mine. Get it all down and come back and tell us about it."

And of all this neither Henry, the

Thin Men and Women

Here's a Safe and Easy Way by which You May Gain 10 Pounds or More of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. A splendid way of working to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to try Sargol, the famous flesh building agent that has been so widely sold in America in recent years. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and see if your cheeks don't quickly fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh form over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Hoescher Bros. and other good druggists have Sargol or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each large package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

of the supreme court yesterday. This does not evidence a lack of ordinary care and skill, says the court.

In the case in point the daughter of C. A. Hrubos was taken ill. Dr. Faber was called, he found no membrane, common to diphtheria and prescribed ordinary precautions. The girl died and when the case was taken to court a jury awarded $900 damages. William Heath, Edgerton, cannot claim a part of the estate of William Cappel, his alleged stepfather, according to the court decision. Heath's mother married Cappel in 1870, while he was a small boy in New Hampshire. He went with his mother to Milwaukee and was educated by Cappel until he was 17 years of age, although never legally adopted. At that time he quarrelled with Heath and left home. His mother died and Heath remarried. When Cappel died, Heath returned and claimed part of the estate. This the court denies. The estate amounts to approximately $100,000.

The governor of the state has the right to appoint two members of the Milwaukee county board of administration said the court Tuesday. The action was brought by Charles Langland, Milwaukee, and the supreme court sustains the decision of Judge Turner in sustaining a demurrer to the complaint.

Partial Blindness Compensated
A partial loss of eyesight comes under the relative disability clause of the compensation act, according to the decision in the case of the Stoughton Wagon company against Olaf Myre. Myre sustained an injury causing a loss of four-fifths of his eyesight. The contention upheld by the court is that the "total blindness" clause in the act infers reward for partial blindness.

That the acts of Judge Chadbourne of the superior court Fond du Lac, recently declared the unrightful holder of the office in another decision of the court, were valid, was another decision Tuesday. In an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the matter of the commitment of a patient to an insane asylum, it is held that the commitment is legal as Judge Chadbourne was holding his office as appointed by law, and, consequently a de facto judge.

Milwaukee Loses Tax
In the case of the Pabst Brewing company against Louis M. Koticki, comptroller, Milwaukee, for recovery of taxes paid by mistake, the company is entitled to recovery, from the decision Tuesday, because the error was largely committed by city officials, and attempt to collect as a lawful tax would be fraud.

In November, 1914, a male patient of the Riverside sanatorium, Milwaukee, escaped and entered the house of Frances Torrey. He was sparsely clothed and Mrs. Torrey is alleged to have suffered great shock. A jury awarded $1,000 but the trial judge dismissed the complainant. The supreme court upholds this action.

million," said the betting man, who now seemed almost sober.

"Are you dead sure it's all right?" asked Manners, who was a little startled by the magnitude of the operation.

"Of course I'm sure," sneered Parker. "That fool has built the boat out of all the junk I had in the shop and I haven't given him enough real money to make a pushmobile out of it. The engine is a five-year-old Grafton-Brown that's nearly wore out and the frame came off a Speed King that weighed a million pounds without the engine and body. The transmission we got from a Sunlight roadster of the vintage of 1492 or thereabouts and the wiring was done with scraps. That pile of junk will be lucky as sn to hold together for ten times round the track. But it looks good."

The two men grinned in response to this and Manners wasted no further words. He pulled from his pocket the roll that these two friends had so recently bet and, adding to it a further sum, handed it to the erstwhile drunk.

"Bill," he said, "take this and go out and get it down. There's the thousand that you and Parker bet and there's five hundred more of mine. Get it all down and come back and tell us about it."

And of all this neither Henry, the racing interests nor the public at large had an inkling. Only the three conspirators knew of the stage setting for Parker's Napoleonic and subtle coup.

CHAPTER XIII

The Final Encouragement

Alice Tredeker drove to the Speedway one afternoon to watch the trials of the racers. That, at least, was the excuse she made to herself though it was probably one racer alone in whom she had a paramount interest. The last cars had arrived, these being the foreign entries, which had now, for two or three days, been trying out the curves and banks on the track. There had been more or less rather disappointed comment on the fact that these cars, driven by drivers whose names were known to all the world, had, as yet, contented themselves with spins around the track, without trying to show any great speed. Many of the uninitiated were ready to scoff at their chances of winning the race. To be sure, Balafré, the driver of the DeChaud (which, by the way, was no bigger than a cycle car) had, on the previous day, deliberately and smilingly tried, a number of times, the hair-raising feat of taking the turns without cutting out at all and when he threatened to skid into the wall applying the brakes for an instant sufficient to let him straighten out and slide into the straightaway. But after a number of these attempts he had, apparently, decided that he gained little in time by doing it and ran a great risk of throwing his tires. After that he had ceased to experiment. But it was rumored about that he would soon let out his car in a real trial of speed. Many were curious to see what the little car would do and Alice, driving one of them herself, was especially eager.

But when she had shown her pass to the grounds and driven behind the stands, blank and cold, and only occupied by a few who had come to watch the trials, she turned across the field and went at once to the garage that housed the Parker Special. In doing so she passed the housing of her father's entries, before which stood Walker and Verrens, talking together somewhat disconsolately. They looked after her loweringly as she bowed distantly and rolled on.

"It's a lot she cares for her own folks," said Verrens bitterly. "Look at her driving one of them DeChauds and hanging around that MacDonald fellow! Would you think her dad had a car or two entered in this race?"

"Would you think it meant anything to him to win it," added Walker. "With her hobnobbing with the fellow that has sworn he'll beat us out? I'd like to see him do it!"

"They say," said Verrens casually, "that the old man has promised MacDonald your job if he beats you. And her helping him do it! You're about as popular as a dog with the mange, Walker."

"I've looked over that car of his ever since it's been on the track," said Walker sullenly. "I'll admit that it ain't bad, but if that's the best he can do, we didn't lose anything not getting hold of his great new engine he was so proud of. I clocked Huddings on the back stretch yesterday when he had a brush with the foreigners. I'll swear he was letting her have all she could stand and she couldn't spin faster than eighty-five miles. We can beat that ourselves."

"We've got to beat more than that, though," said Verrens glumly. "And to save my soul, ninety is the best I can get out of that boat on the straightaway. Why in the devil, Walker, can't you design an engine that can travel?"

"They've gone and reduced the displacement," growled Walker, "until nobody could get much speed out of an engine like these. They've ruled against picric acid in the tanks or I'd use that. At that, you ought to get better time out of her."

"I can't get it because it isn't in her," retorted the driver. "You put the goods in her and I'll get it out. Look at these Frenchmen! They don't seem to have any trouble about displacement. That DeChaud has only a hundred and ninety cubic inches."

"And I haven't seen this Balafré getting anything I'd call speed out of it, either," snarled Walker. "He goes dawdling round the track as if he was afraid of it. If that's the best the French can do, I'm not afraid of them. But I am afraid of the Republic."

"And the Parker?" sneered Verrens.

Walker scoffed. "If Huddings isn't holding her in," he said, "she'll have trouble qualifying."

"Still, she may be extra easy on tires and gas," said Verrens. "That's more than I can say for this boat."

"If you're afraid of the thing," said Walker, "why don't you gum it some way? It oughtn't to be hard."

"What's it to me?" growled Verrens. "I don't stand to see this boy getting my job if we don't connect. If you want him fixed, you'd better do it yourself."

"Oh," said Walker indifferently, "I'm not afraid of his beating this car if you give it a drive. I'm more afraid of you than of him. I suppose, though, after that beating he gave you, that you don't care to run afoul of him again."

(To be Continued.)

In consequence of the decrease of drunkenness in Russia, due to the prohibition of the sale of vodka, fires have largely decreased.

NOTHING SHRINKS, FADES, WRINKLES

Women save $5 in an hour by dry cleaning at home with gasoline.

Women here who have tried dry cleaning find it very easy and inexpensive to clean and freshen all the ribbons, silks, satins, laces, yokes, furs, silk shirtwaists, kid gloves and shoes, neckties, children's clothes, suits, caps, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, woolen garments, fancy vests, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it instantly dissolves, then put in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come, looking as bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

You can do five dollars' worth of home dry cleaning in an hour at little cost. It is so easy and you can't make a mistake. Any grocery or garage will supply the gasoline and you can obtain two ounces of solvite at the drug store which is simply a gasoline soap, then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your dry cleaning outfit. As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.

VERSE and REVERSE

Parody

A little love,
A little kiss,
A little hug,
A little bliss;
She is a queen,
He is a king;
He pops and then
He buys a ring.
Folks stand around,
And see them wed;
Their fate is sealed,
The words are said.
A little flat,
A little strife,
And big expense—
That's married life.

SOME VERY NEW DANCES

"The way to enjoy art is not to let it bluff you," counsels the editor gravely, and then shows you two screamingly funny pages of aesthetic dances, with new interpretations. See "What They Mean to Us," richly illustrated, in EVERY WEEK.

Mrs. Amelia Paddison of Cincinnati started a scientific lunch counter in the Telephone Exchange. She says she keeps the "smile" in Central's voice. See how and why in EVERY WEEK.

LET LAW PROTECT HOME MERCHANTS

A city should have full authority to protect itself against the displacement of merchandise that is in reach of the city's taxing power by goods that pay nothing for the support of the community, and when laws enacted for that purpose are evaded by a palpable subterfuge the flexibility of our ordinances should be sufficient to frustrate the evasion.

There is no doubt that these commerce raiders engage in temporary retailing in the city and that they cloak the character of their business under the semblance of a mere taking of orders for future delivery. By this scheme they not only divert thousands of dollars in trade from the business men who pay for the maintenance of city government and institutions, but also deprive the city of hundreds of dollars in tax revenues. Surely the city has a legal right to protect itself in the matter in a country the domestic trade and industry of which has been built up by the kindred machinery of a protective tariff.

Incidental to this discussion is the immense business being done by peddlers, without payment of the transient merchant license. No doubt a little keenness might intercept and destroy this class of trade filibustering.

It is not unlikely that the genius of the city's legal and legislative agencies will be equal to the demands of the situation, and while the question is up it might not be a bad idea to consider the adequacy of the present license fees; they seem hardly equal to the occasion of imposing upon expeditionary merchants a burden of government support equal to that which the home merchant bears from year to year.

"SWAT THE FLY?—BALL?"

Today the "swat the ball" season opens with tremendous enthusiasm. The elimination of the Feds has brought peace to the diamond and many insurgents are back within the old stockade. The rebellion may have appeased some bitterness; even it may have inculcated a more wholesome respect for the rights of players and patrons. In any event, the end of it will win back many disgusted fans and make for a year of hilarity and dividends.

Don't think we're not for baseball—we've rooted since childhood and in the dim past heaved corkscrews over the brick-and-a-half home station on the goose-plucked green of an adjacent village. But, at times, we wonder what would be the aggregate result were baseball made a purely amateur sport and were the millions which it takes out of the nation's small change diverted to constructive civic endeavors. Dr. Babcock doesn't rank with Tris Speaker as a national hero, and Dr. Wyllie couldn't see Ty Cobb for the dust in a popularity contest, yet we spend millions to "swat the ball" and leave a few lone and impoverished patriots to "swat the fly". The two seasons open contemporaneously—watch which one gets the bigger play.

"EL PASO" ELECTION STORY METHODS

After its experience in "electing" Karel a few years ago, the Sentinel might have learned that it doesn't pay to count your election chickens before they are hatched. But it didn't learn. Day after day, last week, on the ground of the most incomplete return, our morning neighbor continued to assure the public in glaring headlines that the conservative delegates at large were elected, that the republican convention candidates would have a majority of the delegation and that La Follette had been given a "body blow". And then about Saturday, it had to begin climbing off its horse, and it has been climbing ever since.

But the unfortunate feature of the Sentinel's premature chicken count is that the result was sent broadcast by the Associated Press, and that newspapers throughout the country have editorially proclaimed the overwhelming defeat of La Follette.

The mischief of that lies in the fact that, when the truth comes out, not only will Wisconsin be made to look ridiculous, but Senator La Follette will be able to make greater capital out of the result of the election.—Milwaukee Free Press.

The Sentinel's election returns were consistently on a level with the reliability of its pre-election stories, and with its past record of unreliability. The Free Press, we are happy to observe, retains its ability to tell election truths even though they be unpleasant. Just how far the Sentinel strayed from the facts in this case may be seen from the following extracts:

Wednesday, April 5—Philipp gets 20 out of 26 delegates and gets all of the delegates at large.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Monday, April 10—With the official returns of four counties still missing, the result of the contests for republican delegates at large and republican district delegates showed late Monday night that Senator La Follette had elected fifteen of his delegates and Gov. Philipp eleven delegates. The returns from the four counties probably will not change the result.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

But even the Free Press went somewhat astray in the editorial from which we quote at the beginning of this discussion, for in concluding that article, April 10, it said:

The really significant feature of the vote for delegates is the strong endorsement received by Governor Philipp.

In its editorial of April 11, one day later, the Free Press mentioned "La Follette's defeat of the Madison convention ticket" and "the result of last Tuesday, which gave Senator La Follette a larger vote than either Governor Philipp or President Wilson".

How can a vote which "gave Senator La Follette a larger vote than either Governor Philipp or President Wilson" be a "strong endorsement received by Governor Philipp"?

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

He Meant Business

Mrs. Bennett arrived at the conclusion that the attachment of Teddy Nolan, the policeman, for her cook must be investigated lest it prove disastrous to domestic discipline.

One morning she took Annie, the cook, to task regarding the matter. Annie admitted his attentions. "Do you think he means business, Annie?" asked Mrs. Bennett. "Yes, mum, Oi t'ink so," replied Annie. "Anyway, he's begun to complain about my cookin', mum."—Judge.

Not Really Extravagant

There's a Yankee landlord on the Maine coast who keeps his old hulk of a summer hotel filled every year with well-to-do guests from the cities, who pay high prices for the wonderful scenery and the good meals, philosophically accepting the bleak rooms, the shabby wallpaper and the threadbare upholstery. A New York man asked him toward the close of the season how he had been doing.

"Wal," the Yankee replied, "I've just been going over the books and we've netted about $17,000 this season. I reckon if we do as well another year I'll paper the parlor!"—Everybody's Magazine.

In Mourning

In a very formal household in New England one of the youngsters approached her mother with the request that she be allowed to play the piano awhile.

"Play the piano! Why, child, your uncle has been dead only a week and—"

"But I'll play very softly."

The mother hesitated a moment; then replied:

"Oh, very well; but be careful to use only the black keys."

Plenty of Practice

In this city they are telling of a widower who was married recently for the third time, and whose bride had been married once before herself.

The bridegroom-elect wrote across the bottom of one of the wedding invitations sent to a particular friend:

"Be sure to come; this is no amateur performance."

He Thought of the Bill

Doctor Emdee—What gave him the relapse?

Nurse—His wife thoughtlessly came into his room dressed in a new gown and hat.

The Right Answer

Professor—What three words are used most among college students?

Weary Fresh—I don't know.

Professor—Correct.

But it's as well to forget most of the promises made to you.

(By Nicksah)

STAMBOUL

Stamboul is the old time-worn quarter of Constantinople that lies over the Golden Horn, away from the modernism and the militarism of the new city. It is a place of beauty and peace and sorrow, a swift alternation of contrast between the squalid and the magnificent, a section full of old houses and old memories.

Most beautiful of all its buildings is the mosque of Santa Sophia, the St. Peter's of Islam. Santa Sophia was built for a Christian church, but the broad-minded Turk has taken it over and made it his own. It is a place of immense spaciousness and perfect calm; both qualities which stand out the better and seem the more precious after the cramped and noisy street over the threshold. The great central court is bare, swept and garnished, its emptiness unbroken by a single bench or pedestal, its proportions so perfect that its size is lost. Only the worshippers scattered over its flags are dwarfed to nothingness. Under the dome a stroy dove wings about, as though under the dome of heaven.

It is always twilight in Santa Sophia, an endless twilight neither of morning nor evening, a twilight of a world that knows no sun. The Turks and Arabs drift slowly in and out, shoes in hand; they wander about the court or bow in prayer in some half-sheltering niche; they lean sulpinely against the little lecterns set for readers of the Koran, staring straight before them into nothingness with blank eyes.

Stamboul is a city of mosques. There are all sorts, from the barest to the most ornate, but none to compare with Santa Sophia. There is the old church of Saint Irene that the Turks have turned into a military museum. Trophies of the battlefield are here exhibited, models of Turkish equipment, relics of the Turkish past. The trophies are queerly chosen, obeying some incomprehensible process of the Turkish mind. There are battle-flags shot to rags and crusted with the blood of men who died for them; and the most object may be the shoe of an Italian soldier, a discarded British rifle from Gallipoli, some similar trifle hardly worth the keeping, much less displaying to future generations. The Turk preserves the flag and the shoe together. He has his own scale of values, and it is not for the foreigner to cavil.

MAGNETIC LETTERS FOR SIGNS

A new departure in changeable signs is one in which letters are held in place by a piece of magnetized steel. The background is a piece of sheet iron which may be painted in any desired color with a specially prepared paint which does not affect its magnetic qualities. Instead of writing upon a blackboard, the storekeeper simply selects his letters and places them against the steel sheet where they are held firmly in place by magnetic attraction. Magnetized letters will soon be upon the market in a variety of sizes and designs. They will be attractive in appearance and more durable than most sign letters now in use. They will not be excessively high-priced.

Not That Hungry

The evidence was absolutely conclusive against the old negro who was charged with stealing a chicken from his neighbors, says the National Monthly. The negro was a familiar figure to the judge, who addressed him reproachfully: "Now, Rastus, why did you steal that chicken?" "Bekase ma pooh family wuz starvin', yo' honor," whimpered the old man. "Family starving!" cried the judge. "But they tell me you keep four dogs. How is that, uncle?" "Why, yo' honor," said the old fellow, reproachfully, "you wouldn't spect ma family to eat dem dogs."

ORTHODOX BILLY SCORNS TRIO OF PROTESTING CLERICS

BALTIMORE, Md., April 12. —"They have no business to preach from a Presbyterian pulpit," said Billy Sunday Tuesday of the three graduates of Union Theological seminary, who, despite their refusal to affirm the story of the virgin birth, the raising of Lazarus, and the story of Jonah and the whale were admitted to the Presbytery. Shown the United Press dispatch concerning the action of the Presbytery, Billy said, "I believe the Bible from cover to cover. The man who doesn't has no right in the Presbyterian pulpit. The world is going to hell fast enough without help from the pulpit. If all the preachers in the United States take a stand against a literal construction of the Bible, I shall continue to preach it as it is. I believe Jonah was swallowed by the whale."

Majority Of Officers Of Twentieth Century Club Are Re-Elected

Mrs. Finch Chosen to Again Head Organization and Four Other Officers Succeed Themselves—Club Distributing Flower Seeds Today

Mrs. Lillian Finch, president of the organization the past year, was again chosen to preside over the destinies of the Twentieth Century club at the annual election of officers of the club yesterday afternoon. Four other officers, Mesdames George R. Longbrake, George H. Brettnall, James Vincent and Emma Law, were re-elected to succeed themselves, while three new officers, Mesdames Eugene G. Perkins, Odlin J. Oyen and David O. Coate, were chosen. The list of officers for the coming year will be as follows:

President—Mrs. Lillian Finch.
First vice president—Mrs. Eugene G. Perkins.
Second vice president—Mrs. Odlin J. Oyen.
Recording secretary—Mrs. George R. Longbrake.
Corresponding secretary—Mrs. George H. Brettnall.
Treasurer—Mrs. James Vincent.
Member-at-large—Mrs. Emma Law.

Auditor—Mrs. David O. Coate.
The meeting yesterday was held at the kindergarten rooms of the state normal school, the hostesses being the Mesdames A. E. Soderberg and C. W. Noble. Refreshments were served during the intermission.

Delegates Elected
The election of delegates to the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs, to be held in New York May 25 to June 2, resulted in the choosing of Mesdames Frank H. Fowler and Charles A. MacCarthy as delegates, and Mesdames J. L. Callahan and George H. Brettnall as alternates.

No action was taken on the matter of purchasing a club home at yesterday's meeting, the committee stating that a conference with out-of-town people was necessary before a report could be made. Likewise the election of delegates to the district convention of women's clubs in Sparta May 16 and 17 went over until the next meeting, owing to lack of time. It is expected that a large delegation from the La Crosse club will attend the convention.

Distribute Seeds
Details of the spring seed campaign of the club were announced by the chairman of the civic committee, Mrs. George P. Bradish, and seeds are today being distributed by the committee members among the schoolchildren of the south side. A prize of $1 for nasturtiums and one of 75c for zinnias will be offered in each of the fourteen south side schools, including all public and parochial schools and the normal school. These seeds must be purchased from the club, the price, however, being merely nominal. Serving on the committee with Mrs. Bradish are Mesdames William Doerflinger, C. A. Olberg and George H. Brettnall.

Through the courtesy of Congressman John J. Esch, the club has secured for free distribution among the school children 2,500 packages of government seeds, and a special prize of $5 will be offered to the school exhibiting the best bouquet of mixed flowers from these seeds, the prize to go to the room having sold the greatest number of packages of seeds.

Reducing The High Cost Of Living

Written For the TRIBUNE by Nellie Maxwell, Department of Farmers' Institutes, of the University of Wisconsin.

If the truth were best known there are many housekeepers who do not thoroughly understand the "inward workings" of her kitchen range. The wood, coal and gas bills tell wasteful tales of disregard of dampers and careless use of fuel. With coal and other fuels the price they are, this is no small leak.

The average woman giving thought and planning to her use of fuel can save one-third on her fuel bill. A fireless cooker helps wonderfully in this saving, but there is no saving device equal to brains well used.

It is neither stingy nor niggardly to turn out the light when leaving a room. Even hotel managers request that courtesy of a guest. Five minutes of light wasted, at a time means a big leak in a month's bill. Electricity is still a luxury, but an electric iron is a great saver of time and work.

The care of equipment is another item by which leaks may be stopped. Careless cooking, burning of food and spoiling utensils because of inattention to matters at hand are other leaks which may be stopped. The care of a broom, for example, using it from one side and hanging it by a screw eye in the handle, will add several weeks of usefulness to just a common broom.

Some careless housekeepers spoil the edge of the dust pan by bending the edge so that it is nearly useless to take up the dust. Rugs are hung on the line and beaten, or shaken by hand so that the weight of the material breaks the thread and the rug is ruined before it is half worn out. Carelessness in the care of dishes causes much breakage and waste.

The light when lighted is often turned up full, overheating and breaking the chimney. Many are wasteful in peeling fruits and vegetables as well as in the serving of them. It is better wisdom to give a second helping at the table than to serve too much, which must be wasted.

The up-to-date housekeeper will have the modern appliances to aid her in doing efficient work so that she saves both her strength and her time. In the country she will see that she has a good four burner oil stove to do her cooking in the summer, thus saving her health and good temper. She will also have a mantle for her kerosene lamp to give a brilliant light and at the same time save oil.

A bread mixer saves time that she can use to read the late magazine or call on a friend. A washing machine run by power is a wonderful strength saver, as is the meat grinder, dustless mop, vacuum cleaner and fireless cooker. Real economy is getting as much as possible in return for time, money, and labor spent. It does not mean penuriousness; but rather the provision of a necessary abundance with utter elimination of all waste.

Establishes Home For Dependents

NEW YORK—The New York courts have upheld the will of Annie Coe MacDowell, who died in Yonkers two years ago, leaving her fortune of $63,000 in trust for the establishment of a home of refuge for women who are forced to live unhappily with relatives. Miss MacDowell was 70 years old when she made her will. She lived for a long time with her sister in Yonkers, and the latter's husband. There was occasional friction in the family, at which time Miss MacDowell would live elsewhere. So she decided to leave her fortune to aid women similarly situated. She especially named her own relatives as preferences for the benefit of the home. She made it clear in the will that the inmates could go and come as they pleased, and were not to be subjected to rules. A long contest over the will ensued, in which it was claimed that the intention of the testatrix was selfish rather than charitable. The high court upheld the will, and thereby established a precedent.

As You Like It

In the northern part of France Duke Frederick, a usurper who had banished his elder brother, reigned in his stolen dukedom. His elder brother, the duke senior, lived in the Forest of Arden with his few faithful followers, enjoying Nature and learning from her books.

His daughter, Rosalind, was retained at court as a companion of Duke Frederick's daughter, Celia. Jealous of the increasingly cordial attention paid by his subjects to his niece, the uncle banished her from his dukedom, despite the pleading of his daughter, who was devotedly attached to her cousin. Finding her intercession futile, Celia decided to take money and jewels and accompany Rosalind into exile. Thus it was that in the company of the faithful Touchstone, the court jester, Rosalind, attired as a country youth, and Celia, dressed as her shepherdess sister, made their way to the Forest of Arden, planning to join Rosalind's father.

This forest proved to be a garden of love as well as a place of refuge. While at court Rosalind met and loved Orlando, the youngest brother of Oliver, a wealthy lord in the dukedom. Because Oliver had plotted against the life of Orlando, the young man accompanied by the aged servant, Adam, escaped to this same forest, unaware of Rosalind's plans, as she was of his. So one day Rosalind was very much surprised to find her name carved on the trunks of trees and love-sonnets praising her name fastened on them, while still puzzled about their authorship, she met Orlando and recognized him. Orlando little thought that the simple country youth, Ganymede, was Rosalind. Under pretense of curing him of his love for Rosalind, Ganymede made him promise to come every day to court her. It does not appear, however, that this scheme did aught but fan his love to a brighter glow. To the forest of Arden came Oliver, at the command of Duke Frederick, to search for Orlando, where by chance Orlando saved him from death. Thereupon the brothers became fast friends, which friendship was further sealed by their respective marriages to the cousins, Rosalind and Celia. Duke Frederick, too, repented of the wrong that he had done his brother, and gave back to him the kingdom.

In the pages these characters will be taken by the following students: Philip Bloom will be Duke Frederick; Joe Liskovec, Duke Senior; William Cymenick, Oliver; Walter Reget, Orlando; Leona Freise, Rosalind; Caroline Turek, Celia; Eugene Crider, Touchstone; and Abe Skaff, Adam.

NEW ICEHOUSE OF MILWAUKEE REALLY A REFRIGERATOR

Building Is One of Best in Northwest and Has a Capacity of More Than Four Thousand Tons

One of the most modern ice-houses in the northwest has been completed for the Milwaukee road in the east yards here immediately to the northeast of "Camp 20." The roof of the building was finished but recently, although the building was filled with ice while work on the structure was still in progress. The icehouse has a capacity in excess of four thousand tons of ice, excluding filling. It is 168 feet long, 38 feet wide and has a height to the eaves of 25 feet. It was built by the Milwaukee after the burning of the old houses in the west yards last summer.

The refrigerator principle was employed in the building of the house, the building being, virtually, a huge ice box. Many dead air spaces and layers of paper make the walls and roof of the building practically impervious to changes of temperature. The building is expected in a few years to save in ice its original cost.

Alois Grams' Buggy Is Wrecked; He and Richard Wiggert Escape with Cuts and Bruises

Alois Grams, 1314 South Ninth street, and Richard Wiggert, 525 North Eighth street, escaped with only cuts and bruises last night when an automobile belonging to Ed Corcoran smashed into the buggy in which they were driving on the La Crosse river bridge. The buggy was totally wrecked, and both occupants thrown out. The horse, which belonged to Grams, was badly cut.

Grams and Wiggert, reporting the smash-up to the police station, said that the car struck them from behind and knocked the rig twenty feet. They declared after the accident the driver had not stopped to investigate.

The two victims reported the number of the car as 48696-W, a 1916 license which the police found to belong to Ed Corcoran, proprietor of the Corcoran hotel. A car bearing this number was found in a garage later in the evening with one headlight and a fender bent, and other marks of collision.

HIGH PRICES ARE PAID FOR SINGLE RARE GOLD FISH

anese broadtail, and his mother who had been mated with a famous fish, brought a record breaking price. Prince Kusa and his brothers and sisters are a remarkable family. They have brought their owner several hundred dollars in cash prizes and a number of ribbons and medals.

The form and color of the gold fish may be changed with an ease that suggests magic, and likewise, if neglected, he will revert quickly to his primitive type, though perhaps retaining here and there a freak characteristic. This was illustrated by the collection of a retired Chinese merchant in New York, who built a home on Long Island, with a splendid fish pond in the yard. Breeding gold fish was his hobby and he spent his declining years producing a marvelous collection of fringe tails, broads and telescopes of dainty proportions and flower-like tints. Then he died and his fish pond was forgotten. A short time ago some one stumbled upon it. It contained nearly a thousand fish of the common carp type. Some of them retained the brilliant golden color, while others had lost even that. Many of them had one "telescope" eye, and the other normal. There were not five good gold-fish specimens in the lot. It was an impressive illustration of the tendency of nature to breed back to the normal, the average, as soon as the guiding and selective hand of man is removed.

Have Long Life

This growth in the popularity of the gold fish has naturally provided a great many persons with a profitable occupation. Women have been very successful at the work, the United States Fish Commissioner, Hugh Smith, regards it as an excellent hobby for them. If you go in for gold fish, it pays to buy the very best stock you can afford; for their lifetime seems almost unlimited.

There are gold fish in various parts of the world that are known to have lived more than a hundred years. Furthermore, the value of a high grade fish increases with his size, while a "cheap" fish never improves.

The selective breeding of fine gold fish, however, requires considerable knowledge and a great deal of patience. On the other hand, the raising of one variety for home aquariums is comparatively simple, and there is a growing demand for fish for that purpose. A fish may seem an unresponsive pet, but he is very ornamental and extremely safe, as he carries no diseases. Furthermore, the gold fish is by no means unintelligent. Hugo Mullert, the scientist, trained one to ring a bell for its meals. He suspended a little silver gong operated by a cord, over the water. At first a bit of food was attached to the cord, but the fish soon learned to ring it when ever he was hungry. This was so often that the bell had to be taken away from him except at meal times.

Fish in aquariums have frequently become so tame that they will swim into the hollow of the hand quite readily, and allow themselves to be lifted out of the water for a moment.

Bad for 'Skeeters

The gold fish seems at a glance to be about the most useless creature on earth, and for a long time he was bred solely for his ornamental value. Recently, however, a very practical use has been found for gold fish in the destruction of the mosquito. For the gold fish rapidly destroys the larvae which the mosquitoes deposit in fountains, ponds, and other still bodies of fresh water. This fact has given rise to a great demand for gold fish on the part of municipalities, corporations and individuals, and the United States fish commission will distribute many gold fish this year.

The gold fish used for exterminating mosquitoes is not an imported variety, but is native to many ponds and rivers in the United States. It will stand a lower temperature than the fancy varieties and requires little care.

Gold fish may be hatched either indoors in an aquarium or in outdoor ponds, but direct sunlight will hasten the process. The young are a silver gray, and gradually become gold, sometimes in a few days, and sometimes not for a year. Some of them remain silver fish all their lives, while others turn pearly white.

A gold fish is mature in a year, but it may go on growing as long as it lives.

Despite its long life and its fecundity, the gold fish is primarily a domestic animal which seldom sur-

RIVER STATION PLANS CHANGED

Possible Opposition Is Developed in Council When Mahoney Asks Building's Purpose

Plans for the proposed utility building in Riverside park will be modified in a few details before submission to the common council for adoption Friday night, as the result of the committee meeting which followed the special council meeting at which the plans were submitted last night. A re-arrangement of space in the building was recommended by Captain W. A. Blair, head of one of the packet lines to which it is planned to lease the warehouse of the building, and after some discussion the captain's suggestions were accepted by the committee.

Possible opposition to the building developed when Alderman Paul W. Mahoney questioned the mayor as to whether the building is to be for a public or private purpose. Mayor Bentley referred the alderman to the plans, but Alderman W. P. Roellig, who introduced the plans, informed Mr. Mahoney that the building is to serve the dual purpose of a comfort station for the park and a steamboat station.

Some objection to erection of the building for the dual purpose proposed was evinced by L. C. Colman of the park commission and Superintendent John H. Forrer. They declared the building to be in the wrong place for a convenient comfort station, and strongly recommended that a second building, designed solely as a comfort station, be erected at the foot of State street, where crowds gather for band concerts.

"We should be strongly opposed to the abandonment of the plan for a comfort station in the proper location in order to include it in this building," Mr. Colman told the council.

FIGHTS FEATURE CHICAGO PRIMARY

CHICAGO, April 12.—Factional warfare broke out Tuesday among politicians when a mob of a hundred ward heelers attacked a policeman and took four prisoners from him. The men were arrested by the officer for attacking a voter. Riots broke out in other parts of the city continuously and the police were busy quelling them.

The ballots in the preferential primary contained the names of only two presidential candidates, Lawrence Y. Sherman, "favorite son," republican, and that of Woodrow Wilson on the democratic side.

Early reports from the polls indicated many voters were writing in the name of Roosevelt, Hughes or other preference.

The republican organization fight is between Mayor William Hale Thompson's faction and the wing led by former Governor Dineen. The long standing political feud between Roger Sullivan and former Mayor Harrison was evident again in the democratic fight.

DIVORCED MOTHERS' PENSION CUT OFF

Attorney General Rules Divorcees Are Not Entitled to Aid from the State

SEVEN AFFECTED IN LA CROSSE

Ruling Defeats Purpose of the Law Says County Judge John Brindley Today

Through an opinion of Attorney General Walter Owen, received by County Judge John Brindley today, seven La Crosse women who have been receiving aid from the county mothers' pension fund, will be dropped from the list because they were divorced from their husbands.

They are Mrs. Hattie Gehrig, Mrs. Harriet Jensen, Mrs. Catherine Christolm, Mrs. Rosa Lord, Mrs. Emma Mehrens, Mrs. Julia Mayo and Mrs. Anna Gubertson.

"I find that these women have been divorced," the opinion of Attorney General Owen states, "and that it will be impossible for the state board of control to audit the bills in these cases." The decision means that where mothers are divorced, state aid towards their mothers' pensions will not be granted, and that the women will be shunted back to the county poor commission for aid.

"In my opinion the finding defeats the purpose of the mothers' pension law," said Judge Brindley. "These women, even though they have been divorced, are worthy of the aid, and in fact more worthy than many other cases. Women who are abandoned by their husbands are given aid, and in every one of the seven cases, I am of the opinion, abandonment was the cause of the divorce."

POISON FOUND IN WATER ALONG THE AMERICANS' ROUTE

EL PASO, Texas, April 12.—Slight traces of cyanide were discovered in water along the southern route taken by the United States expedition in Mexico, according to unconfirmed reports here today. A deliberate Villista poison plot is suspected. No illness to the American forces resulted, as precautions were taken before the troops or horses were allowed to use the water.

One Year's Record Of Truthful Dealing

When we established our new commercial rules, we up-rooted every old time custom. We abolished the old plan of buying at $2.00 and selling at $1.00, doubling the purchase price because of high rents, costly window displays and high-priced fixtures, the money for which must be forced out of the customer's pocket.

We couldn't see things that way—that's why we kicked these old notions down stairs when we opened our up-stairs shoe store one year ago. As with every other successful reform, our followers came, first singly, then in dozens, but now in hundreds.

We don't preach a thing that we don't carry out. We don't make a promise we don't fulfill; that does not mean, spell, and actually exist in truth.

ADDITIONAL FORCES MUST COME FROM MILITIA IS SENTIMENT IN WASHINGTON

BY CARL D. GROAT

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, April 12.—State militia must be drafted for Mexican service if any very large number of additional forces are needed in the Villa pursuit, it was admitted here today.

Army men hoped, however, this step would not become necessary. The only thing to prevent it is: First, that the Villa trail may grow so hot that Pershing's men need not plunge much further south; second, that the present supply system may suffice for needs of the expedition.

The latter question apparently will be the chief detriment, but every report from Funston shows more and more supplies are going forward for ultimate use of the American troops. The war department admits it has stretched to the limit the border patrol of 18,000 men. Moreover, it cannot immediately use the recruits it has gathered in the past few weeks. Points inland, guarded only by about 2,000 men, cannot well be stripped further.

Two referendums were received from the National Chamber of Commerce, on which the vote of the local organization is asked by May 16. One seeks to ascertain sentiment on the Stevens bill, allowing manufacturers to fix resale prices on their goods. The other concerns the advisability of federal aid for vocational education.

VERNON RESIDENT DRAWING PENSION FROM THIS COUNTY

Additional irregularity in the county old soldiers' relief fund was under investigation today, when it became known that for nearly a year Mrs. Mollie Luedtke, a resident of Westby, in Vernon county, has been drawing a pension from the La Crosse county fund. Mrs. Luedtke moved away from La Crosse seven years ago, according to Judge Edward Cronon, secretary of the relief commission, today.

Mrs. Luedtke told the TRIBUNE over the telephone today, from her home in Westby, that her name had been placed upon the pension list by Max Affeldt, who recently resigned as president of the relief commission following the discovery that certain funds had disappeared, and Otto H. Hill.

Mr. Hill said today that at the time Mrs. Luedtke's name was put on the list, he understood that she was living with a family on the north side.

The irregularity became known when Mrs. Luedtke's checks for March and April, sent to a La Crosse address, were returned to County Treasurer Ole Lund.

BODY OF BABY IS STILL AT BOTTOM OF WINONA SLOUGH

WINONA, Minn., April 12.—The tiny form of two-year-old Dorald Crogan remains to be recovered from the swollen slough across the river where four members of one family perished on Monday. The third body, that of Peter B. Crogan, was taken from the water late yesterday.

The mother and daughter, Eileen, aged five, were recovered a few hours after the automobile in which they were coming to Winona rolled from the partly-submerged road into fifteen feet of water. The car and four occupants disappeared beneath the overflowing waters from the Mississippi.

The body of Mr. Crogan was recovered almost at the identical spot where he disappeared after a heroic effort to save his family.

It is also possible to be a snob without belonging to a college frat.

Residence property near Twenty-first and Cass streets has been transferred by Casper Newburg to Edith E. Austin. The consideration was $1,500.

A residence lot near Twenty-fourth and Cass streets was today sold by Carl Zielke to Otto C. Zielke.

West Salem property was transferred by Mary E. Upton to James F. Hanson for the consideration of $1,550.

Property in the town of Shelby has been sold by W. L. Smith to J. H. Bean. The sum of $2,500 was paid.

FIVE MILLION LOOT OF FORMER VILLA LIEUTENANT FOUND

EL PASO, Texas, April 12.—Five million dollars worth of loot buried by the late Villista general, Tomas Urbana, has been recovered by the Carranzista military forces, according to official announcement by Consul General Garcia here today.

The treasure was buried on the Las Nieves ranch in Durango. It comprised 23 boxes of gold coins and jewelry, twenty bars of gold bullion, considerable silver bullion and loot from Mexican churches, besides $800,000 in bank notes.

LIVE INSURANCE MEN HAVE PARTY

With nearly every life insurance agency in La Crosse represented, the regular meeting of the La Crosse Underwriters association was held in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. last night. The affair was opened with a supper, followed by a business and literary program.

Addresses were made by W. T. Lusk, Milwaukee, representative of the Equitable Life Insurance company; H. M. Curtis, of the Guardian Life Insurance company, and Joseph Martin, representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Mr. Martin stated that there are 31,000,000 industrial policies in force in the United States, showing that one-third of the entire population is insured on the industrial plan. He spoke at length on welfare work being carried on here by his company.

M. J. Cleary, insurance commissioner of Wisconsin, will be asked to address the next meeting of the association, which it is planned to hold in June.

FIXED FOR HUGGING WIFE

WINNIPEG, Man., April 12.—Sam Buka today paid a fine of $5.35 for hugging his own wife. Sam had been at a party. Wine flowed freely. A comely maid attracted him. He followed her. Thinking it was her standing on the porch, he gathered the form of a woman in his arms. The woman was his wife. She beat him up, then called the police.

You can easily convince the loser that it is wrong to gamble.

THE CAUSE OF ANAEMIA

It is universally known that iron is a very important element of the blood, and lack of it is the direct cause of run-down conditions and anaemia. It may interest our readers to know that Druggists Hoescher Bros., of this town, have in Vinol a reliable, constitutional remedy for such conditions. Vinol supplies iron to the blood in its most soluble state, then there's the nourishing properties of beef peptone and the medicinal curative extractives of fresh cod livers, without oil, all dissolved in a pure native tonic wine. That's what makes Vinol so successful in overcoming run-down and anaemic conditions.

JUDGE REID CENTER OF FREAR-COOPER BATTLE IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12.—With Judge Ray S. Reid, for years a prominent La Crosse attorney, secretary of the board of trade and Wisconsin waterway commissioner, as the bone of contention, Wisconsin representatives Frear and Cooper fought a sanguinary battle on the floor of the house during the debate on the rivers and harbors appropriation bill.

Mr. Frear has cited Judge Reid as an authority on waterways, to which Mr. Cooper had replied that Judge Reid did not agree with Mr. Frear's campaign against "pork."

The exchange was so personal that it brought members to their feet.

So bitter was the quarrel that Frear announced he would take no further part in the fight on the rivers and harbors bill unless dragged into it.

His row with Mr. Cooper furnished conversation for the capitol. It grew out of the fact that Representative Cooper went after Frear hammer and tongs a few days ago in the rivers and harbors debate, and the two Wisconsin republicans have been sparring ever since. Late on Monday, they had a violent setto on the floor of the house.

Representative Cooper accused Mr. Frear of making a mistake of $93,000, in his minority report on the rivers and harbors bill; later he declared that one of Representative Frear's authorities, a Prof. Moulton, is an unknown.

Judge Reid is a relentless foe of the "pork bill," and it is probable that Mr. Frear quoted him correctly.

LENTEN MUSICAL CALLS FORTH BIG CROWD TO CHURCH

An audience which comfortably filled the First Presbyterian church last night listened appreciatively to the lenten musical given by Prof. Harry Packman, organist of Christ church, Prof. Peterson, violinist, and a group of singers of the Christ church choir.

The feature of the concert was "Ave Maria" (Bach-Gounod), sung by Miss Ida Aiken, with a piano accompaniment by Miss Julia Hoffman and violin obligato by Prof. Peterson.

Miss Louise Knudson rendered several piano solos, and the Christ church ladies' quartet delighted the audience with several ensemble vocal numbers.

Several organ solos by Prof. Packman were especially well received.

POWDER TOWN IS NEARLY WRECKED IN HEAVY EXPLOSION

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 12.—Nemours, a powder town eight miles from here, was nearly wrecked today by an explosion at the plant of the Dupont Powder company.

At least three were killed, when the blast let go. None of the victims, a man and two children, have been identified.

WINONA TAKES LESSON

C. J. Clausen, H. L. Miller and F. L. Clergen, Winona councilmen, are in La Crosse today inspecting street paving with a view towards instituting the same paving methods in extensive street work planned in Winona this summer.

The councilmen plan to copy the method of macadamizing on the causeway in a stretch of street in the up-river city.

Owner Smashes New Car When He Takes First Trip

Julius Albright, a farmer living near Bangor, started home last night with a brand new automobile which he had just purchased. He turned down State street into the Campbell road at the fair grounds and stepped on the throttle. Just then a steering knuckle broke, and the car hurtled into a tree near the entrance of the fair grounds. Albright's son, who was in the car, received cuts on the face from flying glass of the windshield, but no other injuries were reported. The car was bent as to frame and radiator, but garage employees said today that it could be repaired for a small amount.

WILSON WONDERS IF EVIDENCE IS STRONG ENOUGH

Cabinet Convinced of German Guilt But Not Confident Evidence in Hand Is Sufficient

BY ROBERT J. BENDER

WASHINGTON, April 12.—On the eve of determining a course of action to pursue with Germany in the dangerous situation arising out of recent submarine activities in the English channel, the question facing President Wilson and his advisers today seems to be: "How far can we go with the evidence at hand?"

The president and his cabinet are convinced a German submarine sank the channel packet Sussex. They are convinced a German submarine commanders have embarked on a new reign of terror, from which the safety and rights of neutrals are being disregarded with amazing abandon.

But conclusive proof that a German submarine sank the Sussex may be lacking. The German official disclaimer of all responsibility for the explosion which wrecked the vessel was expected today.

The belief that this government's information on the Sussex case alone is not sufficiently strong to convince the world of the unavoidability of severing diplomatic relations, administration officials are centering attention on cumulative evidence regarding the new German U boat campaign.

Evidence on Wholesale Sinkings Evidence showing the wilful torpedoing and sinking of all kinds of neutral vessels—Dutch, Norwegian, Danish—in large numbers regardless of warning, armament, or anything else is at hand, it is said, in volume to prove the contention that Germany is not living up to assurances.

Whatever course this government determines upon, will very possibly be decided at Friday's cabinet meeting. It is understood on high authority that the government is still ready to go to the length of severing diplomatic relations to obtain a "show down" on the whole submarine question.

The cabinet, however, it was indicated today may take another course. President Wilson may show his evidence to Germany, suggesting that the discrepancies in the German and American positions may be due to erroneous reports of German U boat commanders, or to other reasons.

May Point Out Error This government will then show it is impossible for Germany to keep up her present method of U boat warfare without continually jeopardizing American lives. Assurances of her desire for continued friendship can be shown, it would be pointed out, only by her willingness to take steps that would render further strained relations as a result of the submarine warfare as impossible.

There will be no "dickering" with Germany, no long discussion, it is declared.

Gerard Sends Personal Message BERLIN, April 12.—A lengthy personal message from Ambassador Gerard is accompanying the German communication on the Sussex and allied cases to Washington.

Gerard forwarded the statement from the German foreign office at noon yesterday. The message he sent with it is a confidential report on the German attitude.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

"A kiss seen through a microscope, a salad made from a chrysanthemum and an orchid, drenched in the blood of a rose. If peaches were people—"

Perhaps this description led the Fox company to take Miss Hawley away from the Lubin people at a big salary. Miss Hawley is best known through her work for the latter company, with which she was associated for a number of years. Some of her most important roles for the Philadelphia concern were leads in "The Nation's Peril" and "Race Suicide." Before going into pictures, Miss Hawley had extended stage experience.

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Taken when bilious, headache, for colds, bad breath, sour stomach.

WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they're the harmless and safe for the little folks.

NORMAL CAMPAIGN HOT FOR DELEGATES

If present plans materialize at the normal school, the national republican convention in June will be a decidedly mild affair compared with a gathering to be held in the local institution. Followers of La Follette, Hughes, Roosevelt, Root and DuPont are already busy at the normal, rallying their supporters that they may be mustered to their full strength in case it is definitely decided to hold a convention.

There will be a general manager for the whole convention, according to the plans. Campaign managers will be selected as one of the first moves and the national committee appointed. Then it is planned to let various classes in the school represent all the states in the Union and hold but a few primaries at a time in order that each party may use its entire force in every primary. Each state will be allowed half its real number of representatives in the national convention. The next committee to act will be the committee on credentials. That done, everything will be in readiness for one of the liveliest gatherings in the school's history.

SIEGEL HELPED TO REGAIN STAND

NEW YORK, April 12.—Henry Siegel, former merchant prince, who went to prison when his bank in his Fourteenth street store here failed for $2,500,000, is soon to open a new department store in New York. Friends are understood to be financing him for approximately $2,500,000. Siegel gained his liberty a short time ago after serving ten months sentence. He was rearrested at the Genesee prison gates for trial on an indictment returned against him shortly after the failure. He is now held in bail of $25,000. District Attorney Swann said at the time he would make a careful investigation of promises made Siegel at the time of his trial that he would not be prosecuted further. Swann has not said whether he will try Siegel again.

However, there is something wrong with the brains of a man who blames everything onto politics.

ARMY WOEFULLY LACKING IN MAPS CHARGES ENGINEER

Chief Says Engineering Corps Has Been Handicapped by Not Having Military Maps

WASHINGTON, April 12.—A "woeful state of unpreparedness" for defense in the army until recently was described in the house military affairs committee Tuesday by Gen. William M. Black, chief of engineers. Until the last year or so, Black said, the army has had no good military maps of the country, considered absolutely necessary for defensive purposes. Entrenching equipment supplied for the army has been left in storage and the soldiers are entirely unfamiliar with modern field methods, he said.

Recent studies of conditions at Charleston, where a defensive problem was worked out by the army, the engineering department found the latest map to be one made in 1863 by the confederate engineering corps. After an investigation General Wood ordered the entire engineering department and many of the artillery and cavalry regiments to the work of making maps.

This, Black said, has prevented the engineers from keeping up with the work in other branches, such as entrenching, bridge building and transportation. Digging tools supplied for them have been allowed to lay in barracks and storage rooms unused.

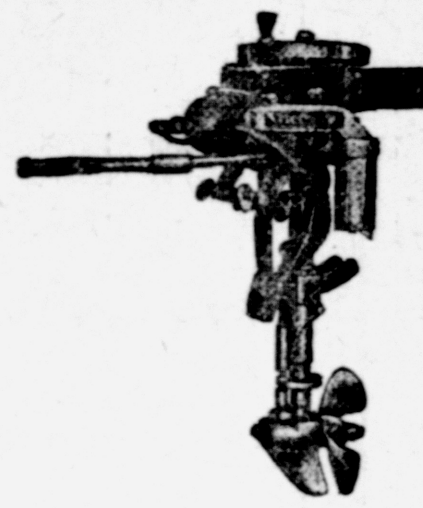

Black asked an appropriation for food for hospital corps dogs. Several war dogs have recently been given the army, he said, but there has been no appropriation for feeding them.

PAPER RATES FROM WISCONSIN MUST BE RE-ADJUSTED

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Readjustment of paper rates from northern New York and New England will make necessary readjustment of rates from Wisconsin mills to Central freight association territory, the interstate commerce commission said in deciding the suit of the Michigan Paper Mills Traffic association against the principal carriers in the territory.

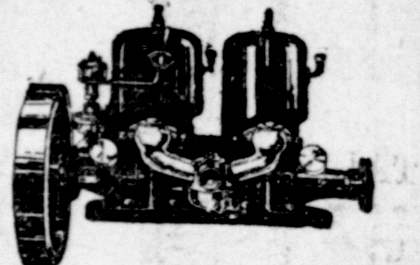

The commission found the association's complaint that rates to Chicago and Illinois territory generally and to western trunk lines and trans-Missouri territory were unreasonable, was not proved. The readjustment of rates to Oklahoma City, New Orleans and Nashville was ordered.

LA CROSSE ARRAY LEAVES MADISON FOR HOME VISIT

Nearly Fifty Local People Off Tuesday for Spring Vacation; Art Euler Phi Beta Kappa

MADISON, Wis., April 12.—(Special.)—Tuesday's trains carried from Madison several thousand University of Wisconsin students returning to their home for the spring vacation. Seven special trains on the various railroads, in addition to the regular service, took care of the crowds. Included in the throng of departing students were nearly fifty young men and women from La Crosse. They will be able to enjoy a full week with parents and friends. Classes will not be resumed at the university until April 18th.

Elected Phi Beta Kappa Arthur Euler of La Crosse, a senior in the college of letters and science at the university and a graduate of the La Crosse normal school, was one of the thirty-three seniors elected to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity. To be elected Phi Beta Kappa is one of the highest honors that can come to a student at the university. A weighted average of 87 during the entire college course is necessary to qualify students for membership in this fraternity. Euler was the only La Crosse man named. In addition to the seniors elected to the Greek letter society, twelve juniors were also chosen. Their general average must be 91 or over.

Funk is Beaten Frank Funke of La Crosse, a member of the class of 1918, ran third in his class in the race for election to the Cardinal board of control, the student body which advises the management of the student daily. Funke polled 640 votes. Ruth Stolte and Stanley Wanzer, successful candidates in the election, received 798 and 721 votes respectively. For the first time since the present system of management of the Cardinal was established two young women were elected to places on the board, Miss Ruth Roberts, a co-ed, having been successful in the senior class contest.

VILLA PRISONERS TO BE EXECUTED

EL PASO, April 12.—The immediate execution of fourteen Villistas captured at Madera was ordered by General Gavira of Juarez. Gavira stated that the Madera group was a part of bands dispersed by the American troops in their sweep southward.

If a wise man is too tired to think, his talk is apt to sound foolish.

BULK OF TROOPS ARE AFTER VILLA MORE MEN NEEDED

BY CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Thirty thousand troops are now engaged in Mexican service, leaving only 2,000 stationed throughout the remainder of the country. It was learned officially yesterday.

About 12,000 troops are in Mexico. The largest part of this force is guarding General Pershing's lines of communication. About 18,500 are on border patrol. The two thousand are scattered in little groups at Spokane, Vancouver barracks, San Diego, Alaska, the lake district and the northeast.

The war department has referred to the white house inquiries as to the advisability of drawing from the state militias any additional forces that may be needed. Some means must be found of maintaining the border control. The recruits gathered in the past few weeks will not be fit for active service until they have had at least three months' training.

General Pershing has been asked to furnish further details of his conferences with Generals Herrera and Gutierrez, which he previously reported satisfactory.

A state department press announcement Tuesday said reported massing of Mexican troops along the Rio Grande is unfounded, and that there is no evidence of any troop movements from Chihuahua toward the border.

"It is stated that every available man on the job," said the announcement, "is operating in the locality of the supposed whereabouts of Villa, and General Gutierrez is showing every proof of since co-operation."

The department's advices still locate Villa in the Parral region.

BEANS ARE CHIPS FOR U. S. TROOPERS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN MEXICO, April 12.—The scarcity of "change" has made the lowly bean legal tender in the soldiers' "indoor sports" of poker, craps, blackjack, and kindred pastimes. The most common currency in the army here is the American five, ten and twenty dollar bill. Even Mexican silver in small denominations is rare. The beans take the place of "chips" and cash. The "banker" has a time of squaring up afterward. It behooves a player to win in "even money" or he stands to lose the fractional part of the dollar he acquired in beans over the denomination of the currency in the hands of the banker.

FIVE WOUNDED IN GUERRERO BATTLE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 12.—General Pershing has wired General Funston the list of wounded in the Guerrero engagement with Villistas, March 29, in which sixty Mexicans were killed. Five American soldiers were hurt instead of four, as previously reported. The list follows:

Private Thomas P. Brown, shot in cheek, back, and shoulder.

B. P. Menderville, farrier, two slight wounds.

Private Joseph G. Bennett, shot in ankle.

Private Joseph Garbell, shot in arm.

Private Walter N. Gardner, shot in left arm.

A HUMPHREY Gas Water Heater

Means Hot Water
With the bother taken out.

During the warm weather, when the furnace or kitchen range is not being used, you will often find it very inconvenient to provide plenty of hot water.

If you build a fire in the furnace you heat the whole house, which means expense as well as discomfort. The same thing holds good of the kitchen range.

There is only one answer to the question:

GAS

Gas heat can be directed at just the point you want it. You get greater energy at less expense than by any other fuel. Gas does just what you want it to do, and when its appointed task is finished, it is turned off, and no energy is wasted.

We want to explain to you the advantages of having a Humphrey Gas Water Heater in your home. Further than that, we want you to know all the conveniences of using Gas, not only during the hot summer months, but all the year round.

Ask any of your neighbors who have an "All-Gas" kitchen. We'll abide by their decision.

BRITISH SUFFER DISASTROUS DEFEAT AT KUT-EL-AMARA

BERLIN, April 12.—More than three thousand British soldiers were killed and thousands of others wounded in an unsuccessful attack on the Turkish lines east of Kut-El-Amara, the Turkish war office reported today.

The British defeat is the most disastrous since the beginning of the campaign to relieve General Townshend's forces besieged in Kut-El-Amara for more than four months. The fighting occurred near Felahie, 23 miles east of Kut-El-Amara in the bend of the Tigris river.

NEW REPUBLIC IN CHINA MAY FOLLOW SECOND SECESSION

SHANGHAI, April 12.—Formation of a new republic of southern China with a population of about 100,000,000 may be announced within a few weeks. Following the lead of the province of Kwang Tung, the important maritime province of Che Kiang, on the Eastern Sea today seceded from the republic. Emissaries of the revolutionists have arrived in Canton, which probably will be the capital of the new republic, with word that Hunan, Fuk-ien and Kwei-Chow provinces are about to declare their independence. The movement is spreading to all the provinces south of the Yang-Tse-Kiang river.

In an effort to save the republic from dissolution, President Yuan Shi Kai has summoned revolutionary leaders to meet him in conference at Peking. The southern rebels have not yet accepted this invitation.

FINCH CLARKE IS STATED CLERK OF THE PRESBYTERY

Rev. Finch A. Clarke, pastor of the North Presbyterian church, and well known in church circles in this part of the state, was re-elected stated clerk of the La Crosse district presbytery, at the opening session of the presbytery meeting at West Salem last night. Sessions were in progress this morning and afternoon, and will end tonight. They are being held at the West Salem Presbyterian church.

Rev. S. P. Pinney, pastor of a Presbyterian church at Neillsville, was elected moderator.

An address by Rev. M. W. Merrill of the Presbyterian church at Stevensville, Wis., was the principal event on the program last night.

Reports from women's missionary societies of churches in the La Crosse district consumed the morning session today. Some of the societies represented are New Amsterdam, West Salem, Galesville, North Bend and La Crosse.

Rev. D. C. Jones, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, is attending at the presbytery, with about twelve members of his congregation. Several members of the North Presbyterian church are also in attendance.

LISBON CABINET IS REPORTED OUT

MADRID, April 12.—The Portuguese cabinet has resigned, according to Lisbon dispatches today. Certain measures proposed by Premier Almeida proved unsatisfactory to his colleagues, causing the resignations.

URGES EARLY DRESS REFORM
CAIRO, Ill.—Mrs. B. F. Langworthy told the Illinois Congress of Mothers here that they should start dress reform on their children at the age of two instead of 16, and advised girls to cover their elbows and take off the silk stockings.

SAYS BODY IS A POISON FACTORY

Urges everyone to drink glass of hot water before breakfast

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and poison-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside laths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

CONTENDS SEIZED GERMANS SHIFTING OPERATIONS BASE

England Claims Sovereignty of Neutral Power Not Violated by China Incident

HOLD TRENT CASE NOT PRECEDENT

Grey Says Germans Were Collecting Arms for India and Were Otherwise Belligerent

WASHINGTON, April 12.—That Germans seized from the American liner China, were engaged in unneutral service and were shifting their base of operations from Shanghai to Manila is the contention of Great Britain in her reply to this government's protest against their seizure from an American boat. This was revealed by the state department today, making known the British reply.

Great Britain contended she had the right to seize these men though they were not actually allied with the enemy's fighting forces and that in so doing she did not violate the sovereignty of a neutral power.

The note held that the Trent case in the Civil war upon which the United States based its protest against an unwarranted invasion of the sovereignty of an American vessel on the high seas did not square with the China situation.

Refer to Bomb Plots
The reply called attention to bomb plots and other activities of England's enemies on neutral soil.

"From reliable information received it has been definitely established," said Sir Edward Grey's note, "that the Germans resident in Shanghai have been engaged for some time past in the collection of arms and ammunition, both for clandestine transmission to India and, if possible for the arming of a ship to play the part of a far eastern Moeve."

The Germans, Austrians and Turks seized, the note says, "were in effect persons whose past actions and future attentions deprived them of any protection from a neutral flag under which they were sailing."

Declares Declaration Void
Great Britain contended that inasmuch as the Declaration of London provision about belligerents has been in effect only as a matter of convenience and inasmuch as Germany had seized men of military age in France and Belgium, the rules of the declaration did not apply.

As for the Trent case, Great Britain suggested Mason and Slidell, seized on the Trent, were in a far different class from the Germans taken from the China and hence that the Trent precedent had no bearing.

In conclusion England expressed the hope that "the United States government will not feel disposed to contend that this action was not justified."

ROOSEVELT RUNS BEHIND IN VOTE IN SUCKER STATE

CHICAGO, April 12.—Incomplete returns in Illinois preferential primary election indicated today that while the Lawrence Y. Sherman slate for delegates had been broken, the only avowed Roosevelt candidate for delegate-at-large to the national convention, John M. Harlan, had been defeated.

Harlan, who made his campaign for Roosevelt throughout the state, was 10,000 votes behind the eight winning delegates-at-large early today, with the vote of 3,675 out of 5,396 precincts in the state tabulated.

Four uninstructed republican delegates were elected. Two of them may be for Roosevelt. In the democratic race, all of the delegates elected were pledged to Wilson.

Twelve thousand voters in Chicago wrote in the name of Roosevelt on the presidential primary ballot. Many of these were women. Less than a thousand wrote in the name of Justice Hughes. Fairly complete figures gave Lawrence Y. Sherman, the "favorite son," 75,000 votes.

In the democratic preferential primary, 75 voters, of whom five were women, wrote in the name of Champ Clark, Wilson, according to latest available returns, polled 79,398 votes in Cook county.

Roger Sullivan won control of the democratic state organization, electing 45 out of the 58 delegates to the national convention. Early returns showed Carter Harrison, former mayor of Chicago, defeated for delegate-at-large.

The republican state control is badly split among the Thompson, Deneen and Brundage factions.

"THE HAWK"

"The Hawk" a delightful love story of modern life in three acts, by Francis De Croisset, will be presented by William Faversham at the La Crosse Theatre tonight for one performance. This is the play which it has been stated is the most brilliant and unusual drama sent us from France since "The Thief." The treatment of the theme, based on the triangle situation, is entirely new. The climax brings home to the audience the maternal instinct which lies so deep in the heart of every woman. It is said to be a play which entertains and at the same time gives the best of art in the theater.

In the name part of the play Mr. Faversham gives a performance which is virile and convincing. He wins, in the part, the sympathy of the audience and carries in it a sense of romance such as few players have ever done in a modern role. We find in Mr. Faversham a player ripened, broadened and developed by his adventures into the romantic and classic fields which have held him for the past few seasons.

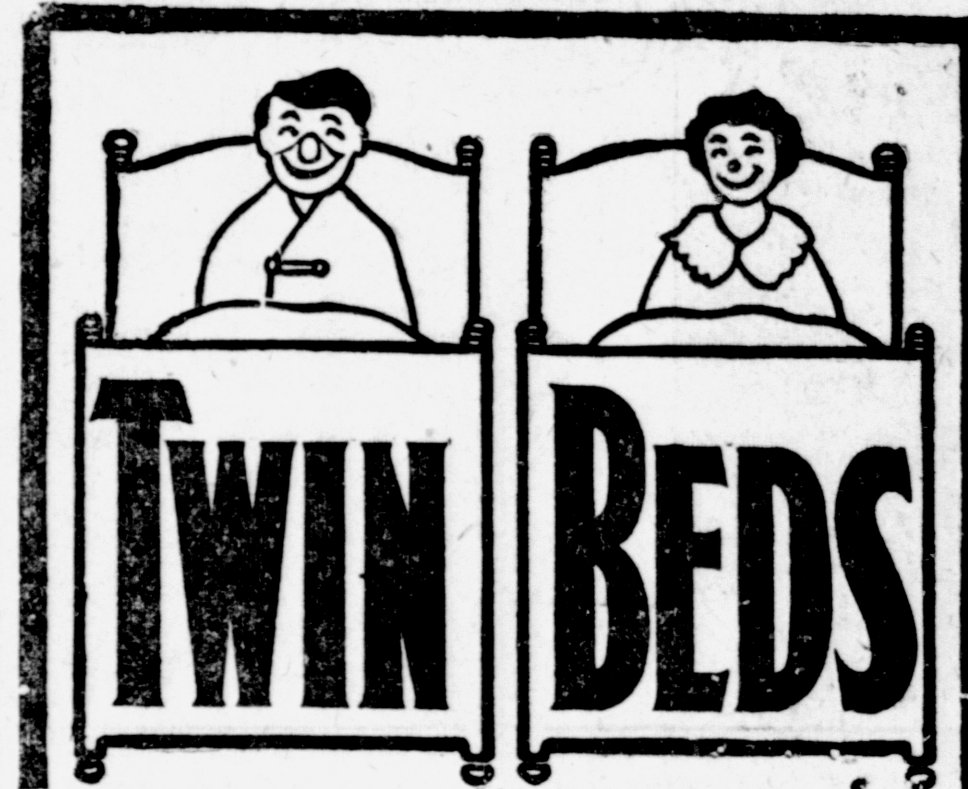

"The Hawk" Dassetta, is a Hungarian nobleman whose ancestors bequeathed him a small heritage and a nature which led him to believe that his was the right to take what he needed. His motive is his great love for his wife who is extremely extravagant. Gaming gives him the opportunity to cheat those with whom he plays and his wife assists him. Comes a friend who loves the wife and wins her love. He discovers her cheating, accuses her of it and gets a promise of reform. She seeks to induce her husband to stop but only arouses his suspicion and he learns that she is no longer in love with him. He sets out to kill his rival but at length goes away leaving them together. In time the wife desires a divorce and the husband is found to give his consent. He has given up gambling and become an addict of morphine. In their interview he shows how deeply and wonderfully he loved her and this reawakens her love and they go away together to find a new life in a new land.

Mr. Faversham is surrounded by the same splendid company which played with him during his recent Chicago engagement. The cast includes Arleen Hackett, Albert Roscoe, Grace Henderson, A. S. Byron, Elise Oldham, Edwin Cushman, Martha Mayo, Herbert Belmonte and others. The scenes were painted by the celebrated artist Joseph Harker.

FOREIGN POLICY IS ATTACKED BY DAVID JAYNE HILL

WASHINGTON, April 12. — Declaring that within the past year several hundred American men, women and children have been killed on land and sea, that two states have been invaded by armed forces and uniformed soldiers shot down on American soil, David Jayne Hill yesterday launched a spirited attack on the administration's foreign policy. He spoke at a Navy league meeting.

"Have we ceased to be a self-respecting nation?" he asked. "Are we so fond of ease, so fearful of personal danger, that we can satisfy ourselves with empty words? If not we must resolve that every American resource of men or treasure will be spent if necessary to vindicate the personal safety of every American, wherever their legitimate business or the necessity of their situation require them to be."

Implying the time will come when the United States will face Japan and Germany in alliance, Professor Morton Prince of Tufts college, advocated a fleet for the United States as big as any other two navies combined, exclusive of England.

CHINESE MAID HAS TROUBLE IN PAJAMAS

NEW YORK, April 12.—Ah Koo, Chinese maid who clings to the style of her flowery kingdom—seven nifty little black silk pajamas instead of a regular skirt—is going to dodge Seventy-second street and Columbus avenue hereafter when she walks with her employers, the Misses Madeline and Alice Liebert, daughters of the French consul general.

A big New York copper espied her there and "wouldn't stand for such goings on on his beat." He was going to arrest Ah Koo, but when his instruction book failed to specify what should be done with a pajama-clad maid, the copper merely told her to move on.

DRUGGISTS BACK PRICE-FIXING BILL

Members of the La Crosse County Retail Druggists' association came out in favor of the Stevens bill, now before congress, at their quarterly meeting last night. The Stevens bill proposes that prices which manufacturers set for their goods be strictly held to by the retailers. Regular routine business was taken up at the meeting.

ALL BECAUSE OF BRUIN

BY CATHERINE CRANMER

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

An early morning walk in the park was Dorothy's springtime fad, but one morning she set out without prospect of her usual enjoyment. Her eyes were red from weeping. But the most confirmed case of blues will fly in the face of a sunny spring morning, especially when the sufferer is a pretty girl of twenty.

In gray curdury, with touches of vivid green, Dorothy swung along over the smooth slopes, stooping often to gather wood violets or to listen to the singing of the birds. When a gray squirrel peeped down at her from a big tree the last clouds left her face and she smiled.

"It's too lovely a world to be unhappy in," she murmured. The squirrel lowered his head in a sideways glance of scrutiny and gave a harsh and saucy bark. "That's right, little fellow," retorted Dorothy, seating herself on a park bench; "just scold when things don't suit you. I'm going to scold, too, and give mother and daddy to understand that I don't care how blue John Mowbray's blood is or how big his bank account or how good his chances to become governor. I won't marry him because he's forty-five, and, besides, he hasn't even said he wanted me."

Suddenly the chorus of birds ended in a quavering chit-chat. The squirrel scampered up the trunk of the big tree. Dorothy, sensing something strange, looked about and her eyes and mouth opened wide in surprise as she saw a full-grown black bear leisurely sauntering toward her. There was no fear in her first surprise, but when the bear gave a snort and started forward in an awkward sidewise gallop, she sprang from her seat and ran for the nearest roadway, hoping that a passing autoist might rescue her.

She looked back once and saw the bear still galloping toward her, but she did not see two park laborers bearing down on him. Neither did she see a lone young golfer strolling cityward until she rushed directly into him as she bounded down a terrace into the roadway just as he passed a clump of shrubbery which had concealed them from each other. The force of their collision sent the young man's glasses flying and they broke into bits against the concrete curbing at the edge of the roadway.

"The devil!" he muttered. "Oh, I'm sorry," she gasped, "but it's really coming right after me." "What's coming? The devil?" "No, you stupid; the bear!" Dorothy's high-wrought tension almost snapped and the tears hung on her lashes. Seeing no bear or other cause for her agitation, the young man looked puzzled as well as annoyed, but the next instant annoyance and perplexity gave way to a riotous smile that extended all over his good-looking gray eyes. Down the road came the two park laborers with the captive bear gently pulling back on the rope by which one man led him, and jerkily wincing from the punches administered to his sides by the other. Dorothy quickly snatched a bill from her purse and flung it at the astonished young man.

"There! Pay four your old glass-

Spring Colds Are the Worst

They lead to catarrh and pneumonia. They weaken the entire system and leave it unable to resist the sudden changes. They interfere with your digestion and lessen your activity. Neglected they soon become that dread disease known as systemic catarrh. Don't neglect them. It's costly as well as dangerous.

PERUNA Will Safeguard You

Have a box of Peruna Tablets with you for the sudden cold or exposure. Tone your system up with a regular course of the liquid Peruna, fortify it against colds, get your digestion up to normal, take care of yourself, and avoid danger. If you are suffering now begin the treatment at once. Give Nature the help she needs to throw off the catarrhal inflammation, and again become well.

Peruna has been helping people for 44 years. Thousands of homes rely on it for coughs, cold and indigestion. It's a good tonic for the weak as well.

es and stop laughing at me!" She fled behind the shrubbery and after her went the young man.

"I say!" he stammered, as he reached her side and trotted along with her. "I'm sorry I was nasty about the glasses, and you must take this back." Dorothy refused even to look at the bank note, so he slipped it into the roomy pocket of her coat, and ventured to add: "I'm sorry my laughing offended you, but surely even you ought to see that it was funny."

His laugh, that now broke bounds and rang heartily out, was too infectious to be resisted, and Dorothy laughed too. They slowed up as they reached the seat she had vacated and dropped into it. Between bursts of laughter, she explained that when the bear had frightened her it was galloping toward her, with never a keeper in sight.

"If I hadn't already been wrought up, maybe it wouldn't have frightened me so." "If somebody tried to make you marry a woman twice as old as you just because she was rich and influential, what would you do?"

"I'm afraid I should decline with thanks," he replied.

"But because I'm young and silly and want to stay that way, daddy won't take me seriously when I decline; so I'm going to run away."

"Oh, don't do that," he pleaded. "Isn't there some other way out of it?"

"I'm afraid not." She shook her head hopelessly.

"Why not head off the old man by marrying a young one?"

"Oh, I might do that! I hadn't even thought of it."

"Still, I wouldn't be too hasty even about that," he cautioned. Her ready acquiescence made him recall the fact that numerous young men were available, and he didn't like the idea.

"Well, I'm sure I don't want to marry anybody just now," plained. A moment later she stamped her small foot defiantly. "And daddy needn't try to thrust me upon old John Mowbray."

"John Mowbray!" exclaimed the young man. Dorothy clapped her hand over her mouth and blushed in frightened confusion, for it was apparent that she had spoken a name well known to him. Springing to her feet, she implored him to forget everything she had said and to forget he had seen her, and she fled before he could lead the impossibility of forgetting anything about her.

All day Dorothy avoided her parents because of the scene at breakfast following her announcement that they had invited John Mowbray and his widowed sister and her children to an informal dinner that evening. They also openly admitted that they had hopes of having John Mowbray for a son-in-law and had reason to believe that he also had such an ambition. Their precipitate mention of their plans caused Dorothy to begin at once to find excuse for despising her father's professional friend, whom she had hitherto regarded with polite indifference. She passed an uncomfortable

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Olive Tablets. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immense effective result.

able day and as the dinner hour approached, she mentally pictured their guests as a tiresome lot, although she hadn't even inquired about their number, their age or their sex.

In a simple dinner gown of white net with a blue girdle, with her blond hair softly knotted at the back and with her blue eyes darkly serious, she entered the living room from the rear just as her mother was greeting the arriving guests. First, her mother presented her to Mrs. Elwood, a fresh-skinned, gray-haired woman of fifty; then came Miss Elsie Elwood, in her early teens, and then from the hall entered John Mowbray and Dorothy's father and with them came the young man whose glasses she had shivered that morning in the park.

"My nephew, Jack Elwood, Miss Dorothy," said John Mowbray, and the embarrassment of the young people was happily unnoticed owing to Miss Elsie's delighted discovery of Dorothy's Persian cat in the doorway.

When John Mowbray became governor that fall, Dorothy's father was appeased at losing him as a son-in-law and rewarded for the political aid given him by seeing Dorothy, as the wife of his favorite nephew, preside as the mistress of the governor's mansion. But, except themselves, nobody ever knew why the locket that Dorothy gave Jack on their wedding day had a tiny black bear enameled on one side of it.

HARRIS WIDOW MAY GO TO CONVENTION

HUTCHINSON, Kas., April 12.—Among the twenty delegates to the democratic national convention to be selected here, will probably be Mrs. W. A. Harris of Lawrence, the widow of the late Colonel W. A. Harris, idol of Kansas democracy. Party leaders believe she will be named without a ballot as one of the "big four." The fight for national committee overshadowed the fight for the delegates. Both "Jim" Orr of Atchison and "Bill" Sapp of Galena are confident of election.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Tris in Indian Lineup
CLEVELAND, O., April 12.—Although still unsigned because President J. Lannin of the Boston Red Sox has not yet come through with $5,000 of the $55,000 purchase price as a bonus, Tris Speaker was to be in the Indians' lineup against St. Louis today. Both Tris and Owner James Dunn said so. The salary question has been settled. Though not made public it was estimated

Alexander Versus Tesreau
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 12.—Alexander and Burns were expected to open the game for the Champion Phillies against the New York Giants this afternoon. McGraw has picked Tesreau and Rariden for his battery.

Cub Fans to Cincy
CHICAGO, April 12.—A band of 100 Cub fans left here at midnight for Cincinnati to pull for a Chicago victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Shore Opposes Bush
BOSTON, Mass., April 12.—The World Champion Red Sox and the once Champion Athletics opened the American league season here today under leaden skies which threatened to break into rain at all times. Ernie Shore of world's series fame opposed Gullet Joe Bush, while Walker in center and Shorten in left gave the Sox outfield a strange appearance.

Sox Meet Tigers
CHICAGO, April 12.—Russell and Schalk for the White Sox, and Coveliski and Stanage for Detroit, were the probable batteries for today's opening game here between Chicago and Detroit. The weather indicated a record crowd for Comiskey field.

The only new face in the Sox lineup is that of Terry, the Californian who has played his way into a regular berth at shortstop.

Cubs at Cincinnati
CINCINNATI, O., April 12.—The Reds and Cubs pry off the baseball lid. Fred Toney and Ivy Wingo are slated to form the Reds battery with Claude Hendrix or George McConnell and Jimmy Archer working for the Cubs.

Hooray for the Runaway
CLEVELAND, O., April 12.—The only "knot-hole" in the concrete wall of the Indian park here was made shortly before today's game by a runaway team of horses. The wagon tongue punched a hole large enough for a small boy to frame his face in it and a mob of youngsters was fighting for the hole.

S' Louey Mayor Not Fit
ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 12.—For the first time in local history a mayor did not pitch the first ball at the opening of the local major league baseball season. Mayor Kiel pleaded lack of condition. Of course the usual flowers and music were on hand when Willie Doak, right hand spit-baller took the mound against Pittsburgh's Pirates. Snyder caught him.

And Look Who's Here
NEW YORK, April 12.—Bright and fair, but just a little nippy for baseball, and the fans had to wear their overcoats here today. At the Polo grounds, where the Yanks take on the Senators, the probable batteries were:
New York—Caldwell and Nunnemaker; Washington—Johnson and Henry.

At Ebbets' field, Brooklyn: Brooklyn—Cheney or Smith and Meyers; Boston Braves—Rudolph and Gowdy.

It is sometimes easier to borrow money than to pay it back.

SPUTHMEN WALLOP Y. M. C. A. GYMNASTS

In the first annual gymnastic meet between the Y. M. C. A. and the normal school last night, Sputhmen scored a total of 470.7 points to the association's 410.5. Not only did the normal men as a team win handily but the pedagogues ran away with the first four individual places. Corey, the highest man for the Y, won fifth. Bechtold with a total of 84.2 points had the highest individual average, with his teammate, Eberding, a close second with a total of 83. The work of Al Meiner, who landed far in the last division in the trout but who came back and won third last night, was the surprise of the evening.

SPEAKER SIGNS UP

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 12.—Tris Speaker signed a contract with the Cleveland Indians shortly before noon today. He will bat fourth in today's lineup against the St. Louis Browns. Terms of the contract were not made public.

THE WORLD OF FANS TURNS OUT FOR THE SEASON'S OPENING

Mr. Average Citizen Is Squirmy and Fidgety Today Before Hiking for the Parks

PLEASANT WEATHER PROMISED

Boston, Where Red Hose Meet Macks, Only Place Where Elements Are Unsettled

Baseball Weather
New York—Yankees vs. Senators, and Brooklyn vs. Boston Braves, fair and sunny, but a trifle cool.

Boston—Red Sox vs. Philadelphia, unsettled, probable continued rain, light rain in morning.

Chicago—White Sox vs. Tigers, fair, showers predicted.

Cleveland—Indians vs. St. Louis Browns, weather great.

St. Louis—Cardinals vs. Pittsburgh Pirates, fair and warm.

Cincinnati—Reds vs. Chicago White-Cubs, warm, trifle cloudy.

Philadelphia—Giants and Phillies, clear, cool and windy.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Early this afternoon the eye of Mr. Average Citizen took on a restless look. He fidgeted and squirmed. Then, with the best excuse available, he grabbed his hat and overcoat, dropped into the next office to pick up Miss Average Citizen and started for the ball lot.

Somewhere between 150,000 and 175,000 Average Citizens were expected to click through the turnstiles, paying about $100,000 for the privilege of being in on the big opening of the baseball season.

For this is the day of days. Sixteen major league ball clubs were to clash in their first games in the dual fight for the pennant—heralded to be the warmest scraps the leagues have yet known.

After the silk-hatted leading citizens tossed the brand new balls on to the diamond, all over the land for months the great American question will be not "Have they taken Villal?" or "Did Verdun fall?" but "What is the score?"

Pershing's flying column will yield to the long files that are bringing the runs home from third with the winning tally.

The "nut cracker" play invented by the crown prince, will yield to its American fore-runner called the squeeze. And the squeeze has one advantage—it works.

For the entertainment of the fans, some 300 odd players at a collective salary of about $5,000 a day will play. An army of newspapermen and telegraph operators will shoot the scores across the land as fast as they are made.

The weather, with the exception of that of Boston, promises well. From St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Philadelphia came the word that the skies are generally fair with the breezes just a trifle chill.

Due to the transfer of Speaker from the Boston Red Sox to Cleveland—if selling a man for a fortune is a transfer—the American league race is looked upon as about an even bet between Boston, Detroit and Chicago. With Speaker in the Red Sox outfield, his team was a pronounced favorite. Clarence Walker is in his place in the Red Sox outfield today and the fans are watching him closely.

In the National league, Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia line up as the prospective leaders but then the Giants and Cubs have to be figured on. Before dusk the conjectures will have yielded to the ironclad facts of the box score and the little table headed "Standing of the Clubs."

All People do not Think Alike

About Henry Kitchell Webster's Novel

The Real Adventure

The New York Evening Post says:

In this story Mr. Webster has accomplished something within the range of neither Mr. Wells nor Mr. Galsworthy. The spirit is admirable and the thinking resolute. The best of the book is his conception of Rose and her utter fearlessness. Her conquest of Centropolis is a joyous venture because of its flavor of chilled steel and passionate courage. Mr. Webster has faced a woman's world and the shifting sands that are the common world of men and women, without shirking issues or surrendering his thoughts to pictures.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune, at the end of an editorial a column and a half long, entitled "The Fool's Adventure," says:

To discuss so silly a novel seriously seems to be giving it undue importance, but silliness sometimes reaches a pitch where it becomes mischievous. The printed word carries undue weight with some not very wise readers. The imitative author of The Real Adventure aimed to cater to, and flatter, feminine discontent. Quite unimportant little feminine persons, whose best excuse for being would be the fulfillment of their duties, will probably sigh to emulate Rose, not able to realize the falseness of the situation.
